Marion Receives Honor in National Religious Movement

MARION will receive national recognition next week for service in a movement which has been called one of the country's most important religious developments in recent years.

The honor stems from pioneering phases of the Religion in American Life movement carried out by Marion Church and civic groups last November.

A National Achievement Award for outstanding accomplishments in the 1950 R.I.A.L. program will be given here Tuesday night.

Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati will make the presentation. He will represent here the National Laymen's Committee which sponsors R. I. A. L. and which is composed of representatives of three major faiths with Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, as chairman.

THE PRESENTATION of the national award, an inscribed bronze plaque, will take place at an especially arranged public meeting at Trinity Baptist Church Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Dr. G. G. Nuetzel, manual therapist, was head of Marion's R. I. A. L. committee last year, and is a co-chairmen this year along with Dr. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Church.

In a statement summing up the 1950 campaign here, Dr. Nuetzel said, "We believe that the united effort was a vital step in the direction of a greater cooperation among the three major faiths in our community. This was the first time we all worked together in a real spirit of unity. It gave a united front for God in Marion."

IN THE SHORT PERIOD of three years, this unique movement has rapidly spread across the nation. It has marshalled the greatest concentration of mass communication in the history of religion to focus nationwide attention on the importance of religious institutions.

This November will see the third annual campaign of the national, non-sectarian movement, Religion in American Life. All the facilities of national mass advertising will be used to strengthen, through the R.I.A.L. program, the place of religion in personal and community life.

The overall effect of the program is reflected, to a degree, by the way it was put to work for the city of Marion, national leaders declare.

To a group of Marion businessmen, it offered an opportunity for them to place their professional skills and experiences at the service of the churches of the community.

VOLUNTEERING TO HELP separately, or through various service clubs, these men laid down a barrage of publicity and advertising which set off the biggest campaign for religion in the history of Marion.

The results, as reported by religious leaders, were plainly evident in increased church attendance and support. These were the immediate results. There were others, less tangible, which continued to exert an influence long after the campaign ended. Among these was the church cooperation cited by Dr. Nuetzel.

The success of Marion in adapting the national program to produce local benefits is reflected by comparable results in hundreds of cities and towns across the nation. Everywhere, communities have been quick to take advantage of this unprecedented opportunity to put modern advertising to work for local religious groups.

THE INCREASE in the number of communities requesting R.I.A.L. program material is more than three times greater than last year. All of them have been alert to recognize—and make full use of—the concentrated power of a united advertising campaign.

With this enthusiastic response, the program this November promises to set new records of increased attendance at churches and synagogues throughout the nation. To accomplish that has been the sole goal of the movement since its beginning, and will be repeated again in its theme: "Take Someone to Church This Week, You'll Both Be Richer For It."

The Religion In American Life program is supported by 22 national religious bodies. American business and the advertising industry, through their public service organization, The Advertising Council, will contribute full support through all the mass media of national advertising.

President Lashes Out At Russians

"Utterly Foolish" To Oppose U.N., He Says In Washington Talk

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—President Truman told the Russians today they are "utterly foolish" to oppose nations banded together to seek "peace and justice."

Speaking on the anniversary of the birth of the United Nations, the President declared:

"I hope the time will not be far distant when the leaders of the Soviet Union and their satellites will come to see that it is utterly foolish to oppose the united will of all the other peoples of the world for peace and justice.

"But so long as the forces of aggression are attacking the United Nations, there must be no weakening—there must be no slackening of our efforts to check aggression and to build up the defense of the free world.

"It is up to us here at home to back up these men of many nations who are fighting for us and for the freedom of the world in Korea."

Lays Cornerstone

The President spoke at the laying of the cornerstone for the building of a District of Columbit Red Cross chapter.

Mr. Truman devoted much of his talk to a plea for blood for the Red Cross banks.

Truman Talks To Guardsmen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—President Truman said today he believes a Third World war can be prevented, and that it must be because it would mean "practically the end of civilization."

He expressed this belief in an informal talk to the 73rd general conference of the National Guard Association of the United States.

The talk to the guardsmen was the first of three speeches Mr. Truman had scheduled for the day.

Information On Candidates Distributed

Boy Scouts Deliver Bulletins Prepared By Women Voters

Bulletins containing non-partisan voting information about local candidates will be distributed by Marion Boy Scouts to every home in the city this week.

The bulletins, prepared by the Voters' Service Committee of the League of Women Voters of Marion, also include information on the sewage disposal plant bond issue and the three proposed tax levies which will come before the voters in the city election Nov. 6.

Information contained in the bulletins was compiled from questionnaires submitted to each local candidate concerning his trade or profession, present position, education, party affiliation, and civic and political experience. Each candidate for council, president of council and mayor was also requested to answer the question, "State your opinion of the proposed legislation for financing the city sewage disposal system."

Distribution of these bulletins by Boy Scouts is an example of the numerous public services which Scouts perform throughout the year. The Boy Scout organization is one of the important agencies financed through the Community Chest, funds for which are now being raised.

Name Omitted

Unintentionally omitted from the bulletin were the name of Clifford B. Welch, candidate for president of City Council, and the political affiliation of Clyde M. Wilson, which is Republican. Mr Wilson is a candidate for First Ward Councilman.

Candidates for township trustee and township clerk are not included in the bulletin because of space limitations.

Members of the Voters' Service Committee are Mrs. B. M. Salzman, chairman, Mrs. Harold Fetter, Mrs. J. W. Fretz, Mrs. Paul Wolf, Mrs. Francis Wanda, Mrs. L. Otis Porter, Mrs. Paul Felder, and Mrs. Robert Craven.

Supply Drastically Low

More Volunteer Blood Donors Needed for Quota

More volunteer donors are needed if Marion County meets its quota for the October visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit Thursday and Friday. Less than 100 are registered for the visit Thursday when the unit will be at the Marion Power Shovel Co. and to date only 83 persons have volunteered for Friday when the unit will be at the blood center in the recreation room of the First Presbyterian Church.

The unit will be at the Marion Power Shovel Co. plant from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and at the church from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Friday.

One hundred sixty donors are needed for each day. Volunteers may register by calling the Red Cross Chapter office 2-1653.

Some citizens of Marion have responded during the past two and one-half years by giving as much as 15 pints, others have not given at all.

The Red Cross today urged persons who have never given to respond to an urgent appeal for blood, needed for wounded men in the armed services and by civilians too.

"You may have a member of your own family in the service who may need blood, you may need it yourself here at home. Give a pint of blood to save a life," the Red Cross urged.

Death Toll Reaches 28 In Liquor Poisons

ATLANTA, Oct. 24—(AP)—The toll of liquor poisoning deaths reached 28 early today—and the list of dead is expected to grow.

Twenty-two persons died of methyl alcohol poisoning at Grady Hospital in the wake of weekend sales of a mixture of wood alcohol and water peddled as "good drinking liquor — cheap." Six others died in their homes.

Physicians at the hospital have treated more than 100 persons for the deadly poison, and cases were still coming in today. Of the two dozen victims remaining under hospital care, several were given only a scant chance for recovery.

Twelve Negroes accused of peddling the potion have been jailed on charges of suspicion of manslaughter. Officers are searching for an unidentified white man believed to be the source of supply.

Instant Action

Death struck almost instantly in some cases; in others no ill effects were noticed for as much as 48 hours.

Most of the victims were Negroes. Two white persons succumbed to the poison and three others were treated at Grady, the city's emergency hospital.

One of those treated was a 10-year-old Negro boy.

Those stricken collapsed at home, in the streets and alleys and in automobiles. One woman was

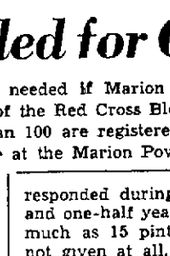
Red Feather Campaign In Final Lap

Workers in the Marion County Red Feather Community Chest campaign are on the last lap of a drive to raise $97,764 to finance the work of agencies in the Marion Community Foundation for the coming year, and plans are going forward for a victory dinner Thursday night.

The dinner program, slated for 6 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. will mark the last report session of the 10-day campaign. Serving as master of ceremonies will be Paul Felder, a member of the executive committee. The invocation will be by Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V.F., pastor of St. Mary Catholic Church and dinner music will be furnished by Dick Myers and his orchestra. It is important to make dinner reservations early by calling 2-3055 or 2-3058.



The campaign committee, headed by J. B. Bray, chairman, is urging the workers to make their reports early and avoid a last minute rush at the dinner hour.

"We are in the last ditch now and it is going to take a big effort to reach the goal," Mr. Bray said

Youth Admits Burglaries At Prospect

Among Many Jobs Pulled in Spree With Two Companions

An 18-year-old Blacklick, O., youth, Ceskie Calvin Oliver, now being held in Charleston, W. Va., has admitted taking part in the Sept. 12 breakins at four business establishments in Prospect.

Sheriff LeRoy Retterer today said the youth also had admitted a series of robberies in cities from Oklahoma City to Baltimore, Md.

Sheriff Retterer and Deputy Elmer Ullom completed a month-long investigation Monday and Tuesday with a trip to Charleston where they obtained a confession to the Marion County robberies.

Oliver told the local authorities he had accompanied James Robert Massie, 26, of Fairborn and his wife, Mrs Betty Massie, on the crime spree.

Captured During Robbery

Oliver was captured by Charleston police while he and Massie were attempting to rob a Charleston drug store. The alarm was turned in by a woman who sighted them in the store. Massie ran to the auto where his wife was waiting.

Both made their escape but Oliver was captured after shooting at police officers. He is serving a sentence on illegal possession of firearms, The Associated Press reported.

Massie and his wife, after the attempted robbery Sept. 30, made their way to Illinois where they have since been arrested. They are now being held in Olney, Ill.

Sheriff Retterer said a detainer would be filed with West Virginia authorities to gain custody of Oliver when he is released. He added similar detainers probably would be filed by authorities from Ross, Franklin, Champaign and Jackson Counties, where Oliver is accused of other burglaries.

Tells of 4 Breakins

In a statement given the sheriff and Deputy Ullom, Oliver admitted breaking into four establishments, the Kimmel Hardware Store, the Prospect Hardware Co., the Rouse Garage and Service Station and Osborn's Drug Store. He gave a complete account of their actions.

He told the authorities he and Mr. and Mrs. Massie were making their way to Columbus from Detroit and stopped in Waldo. Arriving at night, they tried the door of the Waldo Branch Bank and a Waldo hardware store in

Protecting Fighters Down 1 MIG

Red Jets Intercept Raiding B-29s Again

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, Oct. 24—(AP)—Another jet battle raged over North Korea today as Allied tanks for the fourth straight day pounded the former Red bastion of Kumsong on the central front.

The Fifth Air Force said one MIG was shot down and another was listed as a probable.

One American F-86 Sabre jet was reported lost.

The Fifth Air Force said between 70 and 150 Russian made MIGs took part in the battle that raged across the entire waist of the Korean peninsula and finally ended northwest of Wonsan on the east coast.

The new air fight followed Tuesday's scrap in which Allied B-29 Superforts and jets destroyed or damaged 20 Communist jets when they tried to stop a bombing attack on the Reds' new airfield at Namsi.

Jump Allied Bombers

This fourth straight day of air fighting broke out when MIGs jumped Sabre jets covering B-29s as they dumped 150 bombs weighing 1,000 pounds each on a 5,000-foot single track bridge at Sunchon in northwest Korea.

The Japan based medium bombers flew through "intense flak and a heavy enemy fighter attack" to drop their bomb loads, the air force said.

In Tuesday's air battle three of nine Superforts attacking the Namsi airfield were shot down. The other six were damaged but got back to Allied bases. B-29 gunners were credited with five of the eight Red jets reported shot down and one of two probables. U.N. fighter pilots said they damaged 10 other enemy planes.

Tanks Blast Kumsong

Tanks that rumbled up to the western outskirts of Kumsong brushed aside light resistance and poured more shells into the already charred, smoking city. Several enemy bunkers were destroyed.

Armored elements probing north of Langgu on the eastern front ran into heavy mortar fire in a brief engagement. On that front west of the Punchbowl Allied infantrymen repulsed a probing attack.

Mrs. Votaw, Sister Of Harding, Dies

Suffers Stroke At Tacoma Park, Md.; Services Thursday

Mrs. Carolyn Harding Votaw, 72, wife of Heber H. Votaw of Tacoma Park, Md., and sister of the late President Warren G. Harding, died Monday night in the Seventh Day Adventist Hospital in Tacoma Park, Md. In failing health for the last few years, she suffered a stroke Friday.

The youngest child of Dr. George T. Harding and Phoebe Dickerson Harding, natives of the Blooming Grove community, Mrs Votaw spent her girlhood in Marion where her father was a practicing physician for many years. Her life interest was in the work of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

In 1904, a year after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Votaw sailed for India where they spent 10 years in the mission field of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, with headquarters at Rangoon,

Ousted Tax Collector Fails to Show

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 — (AP) — The Internal Revenue Bureau announced today the suspension of two of its employes in the New York area.

Those suspended today are Theodore Isaacs, an agent in the upper New York City division and Elias Schulman, a deputy collector in the first New York district in Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—A subpoena was issued today for Joseph B. Marcelle, former internal revenue collector at Brooklyn, after he failed to appear at a House Ways and Means Subcommittee hearing on irregularities in the government's tax collecting system.

Rep. King (D-Calif), chairman of the subcommittee, said the internal revenue bureau meanwhile has been asked to take steps to see that none of the files in Marcelle's office are "tampered with."

Reds Agree To Security Provisions

Location of Buffer Zone First Item On Panmunjom Agenda

MUNSAN, KOREA, Oct. 24—(AP)—Allied and Communist negotiators will reopen Korean armistice talks tomorrow. They will tackle first the knotty problem of where to establish a buffer zone.

The five-man delegations will meet at Panmunjom, a roadside village six miles east of Red-held Kaesong where the search for a cease-fire agreement was suspended Aug. 23 by the Reds.

Tomorrow's meeting is scheduled to begin at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Wednesday, E.S.T.).

Panmunjom is accessible to each side without having to travel through enemy territory. The tiny town now has the appearance of an American carnival. Armistice activities are housed in circus-like tents. Huge colored balloons and searchlights ring the conference area to warn warplanes away from the neutral zone.

Reds Ratify Plans

Resumption of the conference talks was made possible when the Communists Wednesday ratified security ground rules drafted by U.N. and Communist liaison officers in 12 meetings at Panmunjom since Oct. 10.

The U.N. had approved the ground rules Monday.

An Allied liaison officer said a new dispute cropped up Wednesday. The Communists objected to Allied military policemen at the entrance of the negotiations tent. The Communists insisted that the M.P.'s be stationed on the road about 110 yards away. The liaison officer said the guards would be posted at the tent door unless Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. negotiator yields to the Red demand.

Joy and Gen. Nam Il, 38-year-old North Korean, again head the delegations. There will be two new men on each.

2 Main Issues

If and when the negotiators agree on a line of demarcation between the U.N. and Communist armies, they still face these three tough issues:

1. How the truce is to be supervised.
2. How to exchange prisoners.
3. What recommendations to make to their respective governments. This includes the Red demand that foreign troops be withdrawn from Korea.

Those issues must be settled before here can be an end to the fighting. No one in official position at the U.N. advance headquarters would risk a prediction on how long it might take to reach an armistice. But the general feeling here was that the new effort would be "this time or never."

The Reds broke off negotiations 63 days ago, charging Allied planes strafed Kaesong. The charge was denied. It was followed by a series of Red accusations. All but three were rejected by U.N. investigators.

When talks broke down, negotiators were deadlocked on the matter of where the line of demarcation should be established between the opposing forces.

The Reds wanted it along Parallel 38, prewar boundry between North and South Korea.

The United Nations will demand a cease-fire line along the current battlefront. The front runs 50 miles into North Korea in the east, 30 miles north in the center and seven miles south of the 38th Parallel in the west.

West Town Branch Bank Opened for Business

Marion's newest bank, the West Town Branch of the National City Bank of Marion, opened for business today.

Located at 455-459 West Center street, the new bank was open for public inspection Monday and Tuesday nights in connection with the West Towne Jubilee.

The new bank features drive-in service for the first time in Marion. It is also one of the first drive-in banks of any city this size, Robert E. White, National City president reports.

In the two-day period the bank was open for inspection, an estimated 5,000 persons toured the buildings.

Knotty Pine

The entire inside of the bank is decorated in knotty pine, including walls, a counter, desks and chairs with green leather upholstery. The acoustic ceiling holds two long rows of fluorescent lights. Air conditioning keeps the room at a comfortable temperature.

The drive-in window is located on the east side of the new building. A night depository is also available for the convenience of merchants and businessmen in the area.

Exterior of the building is finished in cream colored stucco. The front features a 12-foot window.

Egypt Warns People Rioting Must Stop

CAIRO, EGYPT, Oct. 24—(AP)—Egypt's government sounded stern warnings against anti-foreign rioting today as Britain maintained her bristling armed defenses along the seized Suez Canal.

Britain modified her clampdown on traffic to let 250 oil trucks go through from Suez to Cairo, Egyptian officials said. Most rail traffic in the canal area still was banned and road traffic moved under tight restrictions.

Egyptian informants said the oil trucks were let through after British officials of the Shell Oil Co. told the British military that

ARMY KEEPS CLEAN

CAMP RUCKER, Ala.—(UP)—The chief engineer for this South Alabama army camp reported recently that the soldiers use twice the amount of water per person used by civilians.. Engineer Roy E. Hobbs said enough water is used at the camp to average 70.1 gallons per day for each soldier stationed here.

The amount of food young birds require gives a reverse connotation to the expression, "appetite like a bird's." During their period of maximum growth they consume more than their own weight in food every day.

Caledonia Students Pick Queen, Court

Miss Monnie Lou Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Williams of 224 Jefferson street, will reign as queen during Caledonia High School's homecoming Friday night, Nov. 2.

The queen, who is a senior at Caledonia, and her attendants will be presented before the homecoming game between Caledonia and Sparta gets under way at Claridon High School field.

Junior attendant is Miss Suzanne Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reed of Caledonia. Miss Selorus Tomlin, daughter of Mrs. Mary V. Tomlin of Caledonia, has been elected as sophomore attendant.

Members of the homecoming court were selected Monday in an election among the top six grades of the school.

All Caledonia's football games are played at Claridon since Caledonia School has no field.

Voiture To Sponsor Exhibition of Rats

Huge live rats, measuring three feet long and weighing between 12 and 14 pounds, will be on exhibit Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. outside the courthouse.

The rodents are similar to those which plagued U. S. servicemen on the Caroline atolls, in the Pacific theater, during World War II. They reputedly are the only live specimens of this size in the country at the present time.

The exhibition is being sponsored here by Marion Voiture, 40 et 8

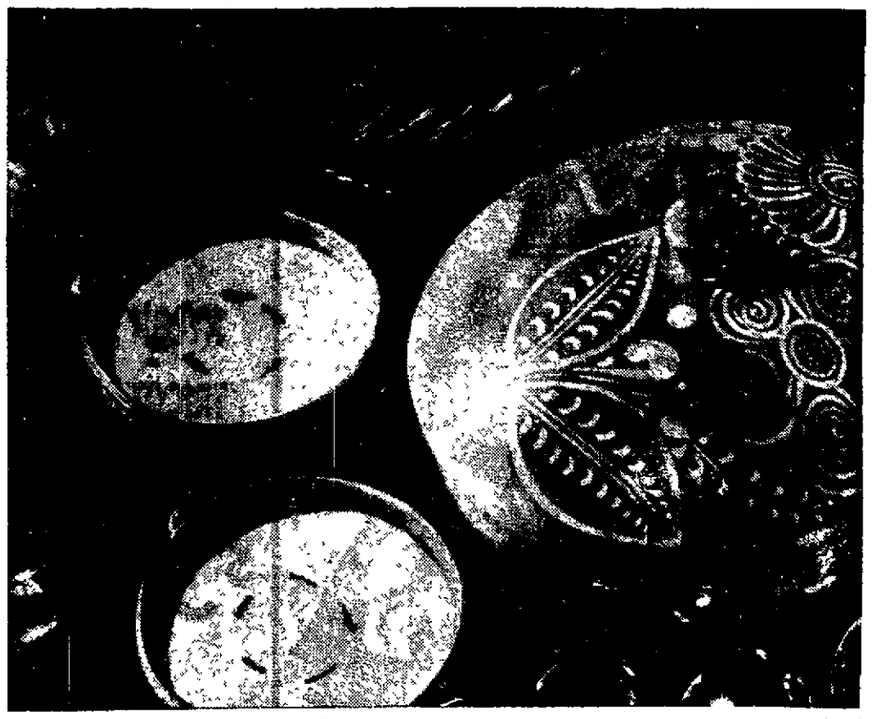
Creme Senegalaise Is Rich, Tasty Soup



THE dramatic touch can be given to the simplest meal—and this rich cream soup offers proof. With its exotic Moorish origin, it's distinctive and unusual enough for special party occasions and has the "something different" you've been looking for to brighten your daily menus. And because it's so simple to make, it's a bit of culinary excitement you'll find fun to create.

CREME SENEGALAISE

- 4 T butter
- ¼ cup minced onion
- ½ cup finely diced celery
- 5 T flour
- 2 t salt
- ⅛ t pepper
- ½ t curry
- 4½ cups milk
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- Small red apple

Melt butter; add onion and celery and cook over low heat about 5 minutes. Blend in flour, salt, pepper and curry. Gradually stir in 4 cups milk, and cook until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Dissolve bouillon cubes in ½ cup hot milk and stir into soup. Heat thoroughly and serve in hot bowls. Slice apple very thin and float wedges on top in cartwheel design. Minced parsley or chives may be used for garnish in place of apple slices. Serves six.

Who Watches the Watchman?

THERE will arise sooner or later the question as to the proper function of the U. S. Department of Justice in a federal housecleaning.

The question will arise because it will become evident that the numerous investigations of public affairs by congressional committees are no substitute for a vigorous policy of law enforcement by the Department of Justice. This is the traditional government agency for inspecting the records of public officials and taking action against those suspected of malfeasance.

But in the case of the Department of Justice in the Truman Administration, as well as in the preceding Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt there is doubt about its objectivity. It made no move to prosecute Communists, for example, until congressional investigations forced it to do something. It has been notoriously lax in enforcing the Taft-Hartley Act. It shows no present signs of being aggressively interested in the smelly situations uncovered by legislative investigations.

In the event of a change of administrations after next year's election, one of the first moves of a Republican executive should be a systematic prosecution of wrongdoers. It is evident this would be such a tremendous undertaking that the job would require a special agency to perform it properly—an agency free to prosecute malfeasance wherever it had occurred, perhaps even including the Department of Justice.

Nehru's Dilemma

INDIA'S Prime Minister Nehru sometimes lives up to his reputation as a heavy thinker, as he did the other day when he said neither communism or democracy offered a solution for the problem of government.

Great mischief has been done by the idea that the world had to be or could be divided into these two categories. The United States, for example, rejected democracy at the outset and chose to be a republic. The British, with a limited monarchy, have more of the prerogatives of freedom than are enjoyed by citizens in any of the Latin American republics.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, whose propagandists boast about democracy, is a despotism. Its chief despot, Stalin, admits that he never has been able to get to first base with communism, and he is even less interested in democracy.

There is no place in the world where communism is practiced, nor is there any place where democracy in its literal form is practiced. When Nehru rejects them both, he is doing what has been done by millions before him. It remains to be seen what he has in mind for India—certainly something more realistic than Ghandi's passive resistance.

Wild Geese Overhead

IN SPRING, sometimes in midsummer and always in fall it is the custom of editorialists to set down a few remarks about the glories of the current season.

This is so because it is the day-in-and-day-out practice of this anonymous functionary to say a little something about what he suspects is going on in the minds of people. Such as what goes on when wild geese fly overhead and dead cornstalks rustle in the chill wind.

But in this respect more than in such relatively simple respects as the state of the world in general, the editorialist is beset by doubts. What is in the minds of people when summer is over and winter is near?

Skates, popcorn, seats on the 5-yard line, Christmas presents or Christmas bills? Cozy firesides, raging blizzards, snug beds, cold feet, frozen assets, or frozen ears?

Split Three Ways

LABOR unions are apparently to be grouped at three levels of political opinion, insofar as their officials are concerned.

American Federation of Labor will follow a policy of political moderation. Some of its officials will go back to Samuel Gompers' credo of nonpartisanship in politics.

Congress of Industrial Organization will continue to act like a leftist political party, a policy which already has scared off A.F.L. officials who insist it is not the job of labor organizations in America to grind axes for anybody but their own members.

A third group composed of unions thrown out of C.I.O. for chronic communistitis will form at the extreme left. Its leaders will try to use their rank-and-file members to hasten the coming of the way when the Communist conspiracy and not the sovereign people of the United States will be giving orders.

This grouping will be for, by and of labor union officials. The members of their unions, with the exception of those who have surrendered their right to make up their own minds, will do what they always have done in politics. They will vote as they please, a grisly circumstance which gives union officials a recurrent nightmare.

In the nightmare, they always seem to be running as fast as they can, which is not very fast because their trousers keep slipping down around their ankles.

Religion and Diplomacy

By David Lawrence

39 Nations Have Representatives at The Vatican

WASHINGTON

THIRTY-NINE nations of the world maintain fully accredited diplomatic representatives at the Vatican—there are 18 ambassadors, 16 ministers and five charge d'affaires. Only the United States and Russia among the large nations do not have legations or embassies at the Vatican.

This, it is disclosed, was one of the controlling reasons why President Truman after many months of deliberation finally decided to abandon the circuitous method of sending a "personal representative" to the Vatican and come out for full-fledged diplomatic relations.

LAWRENCE

This correspondent on June 6, 1950 — after Myron Taylor, "personal representative," had resigned from his post earlier that year — wrote as follows:

"Representative McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic majority leader, has recommended to the President that he meet the question forthrightly and appoint an American minister to the Vatican, sending such a nomination to the Senate. This would require a majority vote of the Senate to confirm, and then the matter of an appropriation would be part of the State Department's annual budget."

At that time the Vatican had manifested indirectly its displeasure that, with Mr. Taylor's departure, no steps had been taken to fill the post and it was made clear that a full diplomatic relationship was considered the only solution from the standpoint of the Roman Church.

IT WAS POINTED OUT at the time that even such non-Catholic countries as Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland maintained diplomatic relations with the Vatican and Rome's churchmen wondered what had happened to cause a hiatus in the relationships established by Mr. Taylor.

It develops now that quite a debate has been going on behind the scenes.

In Mr. Taylor's letter of resignation, he had pointed out that President Roosevelt originally sent identical letters to the leaders of the Protestant, Jewish and Catholic faiths in this country to consult with him from time to time and use their influence in strengthening the moral forces of the world.

Mr. Taylor's mission was to contact all religious groups abroad, and assurances were given to protesting elements in this country that, while he made his headquarters in Rome, he was supposed to travel in Europe and be in touch with all the church groups in the various countries.

QUITE RECENTLY another phase of the effort to mobilize the religious forces of the free world developed. Less than three weeks ago Mr. Truman, in a prepared speech to a Washington pilgrimage of American churchmen, made this disclosure:

"For some time, I have been trying to bring a number of the great religious leaders of the world together in a common affirmation of faith and a common supplication to the one God that all profess. I have asked them to join in one common act which will affirm those religious and moral principles on which all agree. Such an affirmation would testify to the strength of our common faith and our confidence in its ultimate victory over the forces that oppose it.

"I am sorry to say that it has not yet been possible to bring the religious faiths together for this purpose of bearing witness that God is the way of truth and peace. Even the Christian churches have not yet found themselves able to say, with one voice, that Christ is their Master and Redeemer and the source of their strength against the hosts of irreligion and the danger of a world catastrophe."

IT NOW IS BEING suggested that perhaps the President has in mind some dramatic move as a sequel to the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican—some method of establishing contact between our government and all the churches of the world in a tangible way so as to carry forward the original concept which Mr. Roosevelt had developed in wartime. In the battle against communism there are quasi-governmental problems of a religious nature involving not only the Catholic Church in European countries but also the Moslem Church in the Middle East, as well as the Jewish Church in connection with the problems of Israel.

It may well be that the establishment of an "entente cordiale" with the Vatican is only the beginning of a series of ambitious projects on the part of the President to mobilize the religious groups against atheistic communism. Judging by the fact that Myron Taylor has been in frequent consultation with Mr. Truman lately, the possibility of further moves is being discussed in well-informed circles.

Carnival Every Saturday

By TRUMAN TWILL

THIS is being written a little after game-time on a perfect October Saturday—blue sky overhead, green grass underfoot and the stadiums overflowing with football fans.

They have come from near and far, by special train, private automobile, bus and on foot. And when the last play has been run, they will disperse to near and far, some celebrating victory, some deploring defeat, but all of them in a mood to pursue pleasure to the limit of their ability.

Their coming and going on what has come to be known as a football weekend is one of the most colorful things ever dreamed up in a country full of coming and going. It is like a carnival with marching bands, feasting, dancing and special costumes, and the mighty minds trying to understand what made football the way it is today can't afford to overlook it.

If there had been no game like football to give millions of Americans a chance to mill about on weekends between the end of summer and the beginning of winter, it would have had to be invented. And in a literal sense it was invented, by taking a dull game played in comparative privacy by opposing gangs of bruisers and brightening it up with sweeping runs, forward passes, cheering sections, marching bands and bright costumes. The American people demanded fun in the fall and they won't give it up without a fight.

All this becomes crystal-clear a little after game-time on a perfect October Saturday. It suddenly dawns on a Saturday working stiff who hasn't been to a football spectacle on Saturday afternoon in 10 years that he has been missing something. Not football as a game, because the game is not worth the sprained ligaments it causes. But all the hooraw that surrounds it—the yelling, bantering, pushing, general confusion, band-playing and the color and movement of the spectacle—that is the thing!

Even though it is not true that everybody loves the spectacle and certainly isn't true that everybody who does love it never misses a chance to enjoy it, a fellow who hasn't enjoyed it for a decade can get to feeling mighty sorry for himself hunched over a stuttering typewriter on an October Saturday. He can bear in mind only with the greatest effort that someone must man the guns on Saturday afternoon; that not everybody can whoop, holler and help to run up the totals recorded at the turnstiles which guard the gates of paradise.

He can watch the sun begin to make shadows on the rooftops and reflect that except for its being Saturday it is no different from any other day; that by Monday the sense of missing something will have passed on; that maybe by next Saturday it will be cold and miserable outside and a veteran of the greatly overrated game of football when it was still played in privacy can spend the day being smugly thankful he does not have to submit to rude goons romping on his back with cleated shoes.

About Time To Junk It!

Second Guesses on British Election

By Raymond Moley

ANYONE who tries to predict the result of an election may revise his estimate, so long as he does so before the votes are counted. For the temper of an electorate may change, events may intervene, and closer study may bring about a change of opinion in the observer himself. Finally, the 1948 "miracle" or "debacle" has shaken the confidence of every American political writer in his ability to see very far ahead.

I want to take advantage of this privilege to revise an opinion. In the column preceding this I said that the fact that the Liberal vote in Britain, now restricted to 109 (it has since become 107) candidates instead of the 475 at the last election, would be a very important factor in this year's result. I also ventured a guess that the Conservatives might win by 75 seats or more. I want to explain and partially modify those estimates.

MOLEY

This revision is made after a long weekend devoted to a tiresome and meticulous study of the detailed votes by constituencies in the 1950 election. In any election it is wise for a student to avoid over-all generalizations. The only way to estimate an election is to study each section, district, or, in Britain, constituency first. Then, after putting the pieces together, a general guess is possible. If we all had done that in 1948, the election of Truman might have been anticipated.

IF WE ASSUME what most correspondents on the ground tell us about the Liberal vote, there would be 25 switches from Labor to Conservative. Since Labor elected 315 members and the Conservatives 298 in 1950, this would mean 290 Labor and 323 Conservatives, or a margin of 33 seats. (In Britain the word "majority" is used as we would use "plurality," over here.) But this is on the assumption that one-third of all Liberals will not vote, and that two-thirds of the rest will vote Conservative. This I now believe is questionable because in some constituencies most of the Liberals will turn Conservative, and in others they will vote Labor. This makes the influence of the unattached Liberal vote doubtful.

But if we retain this doubtful assumption and then add other factors, the "majority" of Conservatives over Labor in the new Parliament would be more than 100 seats.

THAT BRINGS US to the general picture. On that background, there are two factors which point to a Conservative gain and a Labor loss over the whole country. The one is the results of the by-elections since February, 1950; the other is the Gallup poll, which was remarkably accurate in 1950. In by-elections, the Conservative candidates in Conservative constituencies have gained an average of 50 percent over the 1950 result. In Labor constituencies, the Labor candidates have lost an average of 40 percent. The trend in these by-elections, however, has indicated a lessening of the Conservative advantage since January, 1951.

The Gallup poll published on Oct. 18 shows a decline in the Conservative majority over Labor. It was then 50 to 45.5. This trend if continued might make it even by election day. But Labor must on such a poll be greater than Conservatives to break even, and at least five points better to get even a small majority of seats. Hence, to win, Labor must gain not the 4.5 margin, but 7 or 8 points. This is hardly likely.

BUT IF THERE is a switch in the election of only 1 percent as compared with 1950, the switch of seats would be 23, which would give the Conservatives a majority over Labor in the new Parliament of 29 seats. This with the aid of 6 to 10 Liberal members would be a fair working majority. If the switch is only 2 percent, the new Parliament would stand 266 Labor and 347 Conservatives, which, with the Liberals, would fix the Conservative Party in power for a long time.

These figures do not take account of the Liberal vote in places where they have no candidate this time. If a majority of Liberals vote Conservative, the indicated majority of Conservative seats would be much higher—perhaps over 100.

All this is not a prediction. It is merely a statement of a few pertinent facts. Nobody will know the story until late Friday afternoon or Saturday.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Rapid growth of the city of Marion to the westward led members of the Methodist denomination to organize a mission in West Marion in 1899. For two years the services were held in the first floor of what was known as the Leader House on West Center street. A lot at the southwest corner of Olney avenue and Center street was donated to the mission by Edward Huber. Wesley Church was dedicated May 2, 1901. In 1907 it was the only church edifice west of Orchard street.

Congress Quiz

Q—Are we officially still at war with Germany?

A—Yes. Congress has been considering a resolution declaring the war with Germany terminated. The declaration was passed by the House July 27. The Senate foreign relations committee then approved an amended version Oct. 1. The war would officially come to an end upon enactment of the measure into law.

Q—Is Congress going to change its mind about letting the President set livestock slaughtering quotas?

A—It is taking a second look at the problem. Soon after the start of the Korean war Congress gave the President authority to control the number of meat animals slaughtered. But it took the power away this summer when it extended the economic controls law. Then on Sept. 25, the Senate banking and currency committee approved a bill to permit the quotas, with stipulations.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Home and U.N.

(If a household argument took the form of proceedings in the U.N. Security Council.)

Pop—Will you please pass the mashed turnips and let's have another cup of good hot coffee?

Mom—Is that in the form of a motion?

Pop—I shall be glad to put it in such form if the honorable lady insists.

Mom—I must insist that the matter of passing the mashed turnips is not properly before us, and that it must be considered separately from the request for more coffee.

Pop—I must insist that they come properly under one head and I move that it be hereby resolved that you be called upon to pass the mashed turnips and let me have another cup of good hot coffee.

Mom—Without wishing to extend the area of conflict, I would point out that the wording could be contributory to further misunderstandings. I would amend your proposal to omit the word "called upon" and substitute "advised."

Pop—I reluctantly agree to this change in the interest of harmony and immediate action.

Mom—I might say that the proposal is still not wholly acceptable. It is my feeling that if you wish the mashed turnips passed again you may wish the buttered parsnips, pickled beets, etc., and that your proposal should so state in the statement of clarity.

Junior—May I state that the honorable lady is correct. Any stand we take on mashed turnips should also apply to parsnips, beets and even artichokes and if we act only on turnips we shall be inviting trouble when the question of other vegetables arise.

Mom—I should like to state that the way is also left open to misunderstandings in the reference to coffee. It is my considered opinion that the adjectives "good" and "hot" are not conducive to peace, since they clearly imply that the previous cup of coffee was bad in quality and frigid in temperature.

Mother-in-law—I move that the proposal be reframed to read, "Resolved that you please pass the vegetables and let's have another cup of coffee." This will make it acceptable and eliminate any ill feeling.

Pop—In the cause of better understandings, I am willing to accept the amendment so far as mashed turnips are concerned, but I must insist that the words "good" and "hot" are most essential in referring to any cup of coffee here or elsewhere. To hold that to use the word "hot" in asking for a cup of coffee implies a criticism of the coffee previously served, is most unacceptable to my delegation.

Junior—Let us get on. I am sure the purpose of the resolution will be served if we omit "hot" and merely retain "good," since to be good a cup of coffee must be hot.

Mother—I question the competency of this meeting to make any decision in this matter since the issue is not between two people over turnips and coffee but between two schools of thought. This is a matter of jurisdiction.

Mother-in-law—with your permission I shall read the charter.

Pop (several hours later, snapping out of a deep sleep)—The hour is getting late and I move we adjourn until next Tuesday at the usual hour.

Mom—Eat your salad and drink your tea, dear.

Pop—Salad? Tea? I thought we were discussing mashed turnips and hot coffee.

Mother-in-Law—There he goes trying to start another war!

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Key Substance in Chemistry of Body

The body is equipped with a number of highly specialized chemical factories, These are the glands of internal secretion, each of which puts out one or more vital substances.

They are, in reality, secretions of extremely high potency. Many are of such complexity as to have defied duplication, even though much effort and expense have gone into the attempt to synthesize them. These secretions regulate such basic bodily functions that either too little or too much of any of them results in serious disorders.

One of these key substances is insulin, produced by a gland in the abdomen known as the pancreas. Insulin regulates the body's use of sugar. When too little is produced, diabetes results. Today, this disease can be controlled by daily injections of insulin obtained from the glands of packing-house animals.

An exactly opposite disorder results when the gland produces an over-supply of insulin. This condition is known as hyperinsulinism and is often associated with tumor or cancer of the pancreas, but it may also result from mere over-activity on the part of this gland.

The symptoms of an over-active pancreas are the same as those found in a diabetic patient who takes too large a dose of insulin by injection. Usually, there is sweating and flushing, associated with a slight pallor. There may be numbness, nausea, hunger, tremor, a weakness of the heart, and fainting. The person usually notices the heart beating at a rapid rate. There is extreme restlessness; and convulsions and coma may occur in the advanced stages. There is a sudden nauseous condition, and then giddiness or fainting.

The attacks usually appear during a fasting period, such as in the early morning before breakfast or during severe effort when the sugar reserves of the body are low. The typical thing about the attacks is that they are rapidly relieved by the giving of some form of sugar by mouth or by injection.

In cases of over-activity of the pancreas, food must be taken at definite intervals and meals must not be missed. However, permanent relief can only be obtained by surgery. In the operation, the tumor or part of the over-active pancreas is removed and, as a rule, the patient recovers almost immediately after surgery.

All persons having fainting attacks should be carefully examined to determine whether or not a tumor or over-active pancreas is responsible.

Ashley Group Talks of Filling Abandoned Wells

Special to The Star

ASHLEY—The filling of wells and cisterns on abandoned farms in the Delaware Dam District, was the chief topic of discussion when the Ashley Neighbors Farm Bureau Council met Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thurston near Ashley.

Mrs. Litta Roberson was discussion leader. The water reservoirs were all covered when the former owners moved away, but since then they have been removed. They present a great hazard as high weeds have grown up to the edges and hunters or others are unaware of them.

It is suggested by the council and it it is hoped that these places will be filled up with dirt.

The answer is simple: Rival supplies—in its balanced formula—every element needed by your dog for perfect health! Every one of the 679,416,552 cans of Rival already sold proves that a quality dog food need not be expensive!

Veterans and Draftees Guide

—By—
Major Thomas M. Nial

FROM now on, men of draft age who join organized units of the reserves or National Guard may get called to service in two ways—by their own service or by their draft boards.

You no longer can join an organized unit and consider yourself free from induction by your local board.

Men who were in organized units by July 1, 1951, are automatically deferred from the draft as long as they keep up drill and training.

The UMTS act set Feb. 1, 1951, as the cut-off date. But selective Service has gone one better and directed local boards not to induct men who were in units by last July 1.

If you joined a unit between Feb. 1 and July 1, and did so before taking your pre-induction exams, then you're in line for a 1-D deferment. Make sure your unit C. O. notifies your local board that you have joined. Then you yourself must request a 1-D classificaton in writing.

IF YOU WERE IN the unit before Feb. 1, 1951, your 1-D classification will last until you quit taking the necessary drill and training or are mobilized with the unit.

But if you joined between Feb. 1 and July 1, your 1-D classification will last only for one of the following three periods, whichever is shortest:

1. For the remaining period of your reserve enlistment, including the 12-month extension
2. For one year.
3. Until you reach the age of 25 years and nine months.

If your extended reserve enlistment is due to run out say next January, then your 1-D deferment will be good only until then, even though you may figure on re-enlisting.

Notice that 25 years, nine months clause? That's the hooker to prevent reservists from passing the normal top draft age of 26 without seeing any active duty. I asked a Selective Service spokesman if these 1-Ds wouldn't be draft liable until age 35 anyway. He said Selective Service lawyers aren't too sure of that so they thought it safe to catch such reservists before they turned 26.

IN ANY CASE, no such deferment will last longer than a year. That applies to the men who joined organized units between last Feb. 1 and July 1.

How about men who joined organized units after July 1, 1951?

If they joined between July 1 and Oct. 1, 1951, and their units are alerted, they get a postponement of induction in class 1-A (P) until their units leave. The same is true if they as individuals are alerted for recall.

But if neither they individually or their units are alerted when they get induction orders, they'll be drafted right out of the unit.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NOW our friends in Japan are competing madly with our friends in India for the business of clothing our enemies, the Sovietized Chinese, and their armies in the field.

Our Nipponese brethren are doing badly when it comes to making a Red dollar. It can be revealed here that the Soviet government in Peiping has just ordered 10,000,000 yards of cotton cloth from Japanese factories. The Reds will get as much of it as the Japanese merchants can turn out with their limited amount of electric power.

Victor Riesel

This is something called gray sheeting, which, among other things, goes into the padding of Red Chinese winter uniforms. The Japanese friends say—if we don't sell to the Mao Tse-tung government, the Indians will. In fact, our Indian comrades in this great crusade already have sold the Chinese Communists 20,000,000 yards of this precious cloth—a cloth so precious that the Russians, in their newspapers and radio broadcasts, officially refer to it as "white gold."

Oh, yes, it might be of passing interest that the U. S. Army now has to bid in the open Japanese market for the same type of cotton goods. This the U. S. Army (casualty list now up to 90,000) did—for it wanted the sheetings to help rehabilitate the civilians, especially the women and children of South Korea. But, say the Japanese merchants, we can't deliver to you until January and February of 1952. And all the U S. Army wanted was 124,000 yards at the prevailing price of 26 cents a yard. However, honorable merchants can get far more than 26 cents in the future's market and the black markets in Asia.

ALL THIS HAS developed in the past three weeks—since mid-September when the Army had to lift some of its restrictions on the Japanese under the treaty.

It paralleled the collapse of the output of the Soviet Cotton Trust operated by a special Ministry of Cotton Growing. This material became so scarce that, on Oct. 3rd, Pravda (Communist Party Daily in Moscow) officially began referring to the product as "white gold" in an editorial entitled "We Will Give the Country More Cotton."

The editorial, ordered by the Politburo, lashed out at the Cotton Growing Ministry and urged it to speed up the cotton pickers, weavers and other technicians.

The Pravda editorial warns the Communist Party chiefs in the cotton "republics" of the U.S.S.R to whiplash the workers and set high production standards for each man by creating "Socialist Labor Heroes" whose special skills enable them to work more speedily than the normal fellow.

HERE ARE THE exact words of this order. It refers to the cotton raising sectors:

"In this respect, one must speak in the first place about the (Communist) Party and the local Government organs of the Uzbeck Soviet Socialist Republic," says Pravda.

"As is known, Uzbekistan is one of the largest cotton bases in the country. In 1951, Uzbek agricultural workers gave their word to deliver to the State 500,000 more tons of raw cotton than last year. This made it incumbent upon the Party organizations, and, in the first place, upon the Central Committee of the Uzbekistan Communist Party to pay great attention to the preparations for the gathering in of cotton.

"And what has happened in reality? Many collective farms and machine tractor stations of the Republic emerged unprepared for the cotton harvesting campaign . . . It is essential to point out that the Kurghiz Soviet Socialist Republic is also lagging behind . . . Harvesting of cotton is also progressing too slowly in the Stevropol and Krasnodarsk regions.

INTERESTS OF THE State Demand the Fulfillment of the October Plans in all Cotton Areas. To do this, Party organizations must concentrate their attention on mass political work in links and brigades. They must see to it that labor is properly organized and labor discipline maintained; that daily tasks are fulfilled by everyone . . ."

No need to explain here just what "labor discipline" means in the Soviet Union—no strikes, no slowdowns, no camplaints—or the slave camps await the groaners.

So word was dispatched to the Soviet Chinese that they could not count heavily on shipments from Russia. The Communist Chinese then turned to their Indian and Japanese commercial contacts. The Japanese use raw American cotton, incidentally, for this manufactured cotton export.

All this may not have been brought to the attention of Secretary of Commerce Sawyer. Since he once asked me to call such details to said attention, I am. Let's keep the enemy soldier cold in this hot war.

CHILDHOOD TRAGEDY. Trying to comfort his three-year-old son, Ronald, Andrew J. Baquet, Los Angeles policeman, holds him in his arms. The youngster accidentally fired his dad's pistol, killing his baby brother and critically wounding his mother. They were watching a drive-in movie as the tragedy occurred.

Marion To Be Honored On Radio Program

Marion is one of 13 cities selected nationally to be honored on a nationwide "Salute to Reservists" radio program Dec. 16, the Department of Army notified Capt. John W. Spain, unit instructor for the Oragnized Reserve Corps' Marion area.

The city was selected because of the active interest shown by Marion Reservists and Reserve Units, who have played an important part in military activities since the Army ORC was formed.

The broadcast, presented over the ABC network, will be one of a series on reservists currently under way. Time of the program and other details have not been announced.

Servicemen Generous In Giving Blood

Men in the armed forces, aware of what a pint of blood means to a wounded service man, are responding generously to the appeal for volunteer donors.

A local service man, Ensign Charles Edward Axthelm and others aboard the U.S.S. Essex, recently contributed more than 1,100 pints when the armed services blood donor unit paid them a two-day visit. The blood was to be sent to the Yokosuka Naval Hospital for the wounded men from the Korean battle area.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Axthelm of 286 Elm street, Ensign Axthelm told of the unit's visit and added that he was unhappy because the U.S.S. Boxer beat them by several hundred pints.

Ensign Axthelm is an assistant navigator on the U.S.S. Essex now in Korean waters.

Norman Thomas Cites 2 "Musts" for Peace

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24—(AP)—Socialist party leader Norman Thomas sees universal disarmament and an international war against poverty as the two "musts" for lasting peace.

"We can't disarm unilaterally," he said in an address last night. "Universal disarmament will require the supervised control of a strengthened United Nations."

Unless some attack is made on the poverty in Asia and Africa, he added, there is a "good possibility" that they may turn to communism or quasi-religious fascism within the next 10 years.

Sour-Dough Secrets

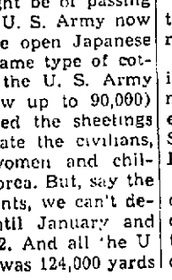
By Inez Robb

NEW YORK

"IF SOMEONE could just capture the smell of fresh, home-baked bread and bottle it, he'd run Chanel No. 5 right out of the market," the big man across the luncheon table said.

"I'll order a quart of it in advance," I said. "That wonderful, warm, yeasty smell! Mama used to bake on Tuesdays and Saturdays . . ."

"And whatever tasted so good in all the world as the fresh heel, hot from the oven, and the melted butter trickling over your fingers?" the big man asked, dreamily.



Inez Robb

"Stop! You're killing me," I ordered. "I used to do the churning, and when we got the fresh bread all buttery and grandma opened up her quince preserves . . ."

"Look who's killing whom!" cried the big man, who turned out to be James Beard, the gourmet, food editor of "Argosy" magazine and author of that nonpariel "The Fireside Cookbook."

Nobody makes bread any more, I mourned, it's a lost art. Everyone is weaned on store-boughten cotton.

"WELL, YES AND NO," said Mr. Beard. "We're right in the middle of a renaissance and reformation in the bread department.

"You'd be surprised," he continued, "At how many people are making bread these days. I think you'll find that more and more people are now making bread at home—not all the time, but at least every so often as a treat, like we used to make candy apples."

What surprised Mr. Beard—and certainly surprised me—is the sudden interest all over the country in sour dough bread. Can't figure out for the life of him whether the interest is caused by all these radio and TV sagas of the Wild West and the Klondike, or what.

"And sakes, both my grandfathers were sour-doughs," I said, "And my father was really handy at making it, too. But I haven't tasted it in years."

WELL, SAID THE obliging Mr Beard, if you are really hungry for a loaf of sour dough, here' the recipe and go to it:

Crumble a yeast cake or a package of yeast in one half cup of lukewarm water and let stand for ten minutes. Then add two cups more of warm water, one tablespoon of sugar, one tablespoon of salt, two cups of sifted, enriched flour and mix well. Allow to stand in covered bowl, large enough to allow starter to increase four times in volume, for three days (that's what the man said) at a temperature of 78 degrees and stir the mixture down once each day.

On the fourth day (sounds like the story of creation, no?), measure one cup of starter into a large bowl.

To the remainder, add one cup of lukewarm water, one-half cup flour, one teaspoon of sugar, cover and let stand until ready to make bread again. (This is the real sour-dough starter.)

Next, take the large bowl into which you have put the one-cup of starter and add one-half cup of scalded milk to which two tablespoons of sugar and two tablespoons of melted butter have been added. Cool this mixture until lukewarm and then add to the cup of starter. Stir into this between two and three cups of enriched flour. A medium stiff dough is the object.

When THAT IS achieved, turn out on a board and knead for ten minutes. Now, put in a greased bowl, brush with melted butter and cover. Let rise in warm place in temperature from 80 to 85 degrees. Let it double in bulk (that'll take 60 to 90 minutes). Deflate and let rise again (40 minutes). Deflate once more and let rest for 10 minutes. (Rest yourself, too).

Shape into loaves, put into greased bread tins and cover. When it has doubled in bulk, put in 400-degree oven and bake 30 to 35 minutes.

Now you're a sour dough Put loaves in flour sack and take bearings on Fort Knox.

Collection Takers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

NO DAY is complete in the life of the American office worker until he is dunned by "the collection taker."

This is the hand-in-your-pocket individual who comes up to sandbag you out of your spending money for the welfare of some other character in the office zoo.

The contributions usually are for one of the following causes:

1. Old Joe, the office bachelor, has just passed on, mourned by his four bookies and a wide circle of distressed bartenders. How about some flowers for good old Joe, even though he would prefer to be buried with a case of bourbon?

Hal Boyle

2. Susie, the boss's varsity stenog, has quit to go home and have triplets. Let's raise a fund to send at least two of the kids through college

3. Pat, the young and popular stock clerk, has just come down with a bad attack of miasma in the adenoids. Come on, fellows, dip deep—and let's finance Pat to a week on the beach at Miami. It's the only way to get rid of miasma this time of year.

EVERYBODY SOONER OR LATER gets the chore of going around the office and taking up these collections. And it has two advantages. It keeps you from having to do your own work, and if you make the collection nobody knows whether you actually contributed any cash yourself.

Here are some of the worthy-cause victims you'll find in every office in the land:

The stern-principled grouch—"I'll give two bits if it's for a funeral. Otherwise, count me out."

The pass-it-on-to-management advocate—"why doesn't the firm have a fund for situations like this?"

The doleful donkey—he reaches in his pocket as soon as he sees you, and groans, "Don't tell me what it's for. Just tell me how much you want."

THE HAPPY CONTRIBUTOR—"Sure, put me down for a buck. I'm glad to do it. I don't have it with me—you put it in for me, will you? (Two weeks later he comes up and says, "Say, don't you still owe me that buck I put in for you to buy old Joe those roses?")

The coward—He hides out in the men's room every day until noon so nobody can separate him from the four bits his wife gave him for lunch.

The empty-pockets blues-singer—"Gee, you know I'd like to. But the mortgage on our television set comes due tomorrow."

The cry baby—"Nobody ever took up a collection for me. I could drop dead in my tracks and nobody around here would even bother to send me a get-well card."

The cheerful four-flusher—"I can't get in on it right now But see me Friday for sure. Now don't forget." (He stays home from work Friday, figuring by Monday the whole thing will blow over.)

THE PHILADELPHIA LAWYER TYPE—"I think you are going about this in the wrong way. How about getting him workmen's compensation? Has anyone written the Social Security board? How about taking this up with his congressman? Oh, no that's out. He's a Republican, and his congressman is a Democrat."

The average guy—he puts his hand in his pocket, gives a wry grin, and forks over the dough he'd hoped to buy a few beers with. But he goes home feeling a little warmer in his heart for knowing the people where he works sticks together in little ways, in times of happiness and hurt..

Marion Garden Center Notes

SMALLER TREES

Trees, among other good things, come in smaller packages these days. Now, with more limited home property, an owner has to be more careful what kinds of trees go on his plot. Detailed attention should be given to proper selection of both evergreens and deciduous trees.

Modern horticulture has developed many species that are slow growing or somewhat dwarfed as well as others that have been greatly slenderized. Such trees are particularly suited to small properties or limited areas. Your local nurseryman will be glad to advise you on shapes and ultimate sizes.

Some plants such as yews and arborvitae and junipers can be kept within bounds for many years because they lend themselves to annual pruning. Others are allergic to this treatment and will grow large despite our efforts.

The use of this small-sized material will create a slower transformation of our grounds than will the use of the more rapid growing, taller sorts. For sites of more limited area the final result will be more pleasing.

The famous flamingoes at Hialeah, Fla., are fed a special diet of cooked rice, dried shrimp and ground dog-biscuit.

Mayor Harold F. Robinson set Saturday as the day honoring the Navy through a proclamation signed this week.

Robert Vaughn, chairman of the club's anchor sales committee, said members would be on the downtown streets on the two days to sell the anchors. These anchors are made from pipe cleaners by disabled veterans in Naval hospitals, not only to provide occupation for their long hours of convalescence but to allow them the opportunity to earn needed financial assistance. The anchors are purchased by the local club at five cents each and placed on sale as part of the club's Navy Day observance.

The difference between the club's purchase price and the amount of the public donations is placed in the club and auxiliary welfare funds for aiding deserving Naval veterans, not necessarily Navy Club members. Mr. Vaughn said the local group purchased 3,000 anchors for the two-day sale.

In signing the proclamation, Mayor Robinson urged Marion residents to pay their respects to the men and women of the U. S. Navy. He said the Korean War emphasized the need for a strong peacetime Navy with a trained reserve ready to fight in the event of a national emergency.

Evidence That Will Not Be Denied . . .

Those who investigate the idea of prearrangement for funerals find indisputable evidence of its value in protection for dependents.

Experience has proved this again and again. Such plans, made in advance of the need, prove to be sound plans. They take into consideration what services would be required or preferred—and what can be paid for those services without depriving dependents of needed funds.

If you have been putting off the making of your own investigation of this plan, do not delay it further.

Three Autos Involved In Accident

Passenger in One Hospitalized After Route 30 Crash

Three cars were involved in an accident yesterday as they were traveling west three miles west of Marion on Route 30-S at 10:50 a.m., state highway patrolmen reported.

Howard J. Rank, 56, of 626 Miami street was attempting a left turn while a car behind him, driven by Elizabeth Ramage of Oil City, Pa., was trying to pass him. At the same time, a car driven by Paul E. Kunkle, 55, of near Marion was attempting to pass the Ramage car.

The Ramage and Rank cars sideswiped and Kunkle's car struck the rear of Rank's car, knocking it against a telephone pole.

Rank's wife, Nellie, was taken by the Gunder ambulance to Marion City Hospital for treatment of back and shoulder injuries. She was reported in "good" condition today.

Drivers Bruised

Rank's right hand was bruised and Kunkle was bruised on both knees. Ramage was not injured.

The front and rear of the Rank car were badly damaged. Damage to the front of Kunkle's car and minor damage to the Ramage car were reported also.

Two other accidents yesterday were reported by the state highway patrol.

Two cars, one pulling the other, were damaged when they jackknifed on Route 4 in Delaware County about a mile south of the Marion County line at 10.15 a.m.

Driver's Hand Cut

The driver, Roy Arthur King of Birmingham, O., suffered a cut hand and a sprained left shoulder. He was going south when the accident occurred.

The Almendinger garage of Prospect was called to tow away the cars.

A truck driven by Richard C. Pfenning, 28, of Sturgis, Mich., was demolished when it turned over on Route 30-S in Hardin County near the Marion County line last night at 10:30.

A passing motorist took Pfenning to San Antonio Hospital in Kenton where he was treated for injuries of the back, right shoulder, and right hip.

Mrs. Votaw

Burma. Upon their return they made their home in Columbus where Mr. Votaw was elder of a church for a year.

Since that time they made their home in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Votaw is editor of the Religious Liberty Magazine, a church publication. He also is religious liberty secretary of the General Conference of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, and was attending the fall Conference council meeting at Cleveland when notified of his wife's illness.

Mrs. Votaw was born Oct. 21, 1879, at Caledonia. Her marriage to Mr. Votaw took place Aug. 5, 1903 in the Harding home on East Center street. She was graduated from Marion High School in 1898. With her husband she attended a fiftieth anniversary reunion of her class here in 1948. They had planned to come to Ohio this fall to attend the dedication of a new church at Columbus.

Surviving with her husband is a sister, Mrs. Charity M. Remsberg, widow of Elton Remsberg, of Santa Ana, Calif. Surviving also are eight nieces and nephews, including Dr. George T. Harding, Dr. Warren Harding and Dr. Charles Harding of Worthington and Columbus, and double cousin, Mrs. J. H. Denman of 393 West Center street.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at Tacoma Park and burial made at that place.

The Votaw home is at 7633 Caroll avenue in Tacoma Park.

Anna Rosenberg Visits War Front

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Oct. 24—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant Secretary of Defense, today visited Korea and assured fighting men: "No man in combat will spend a second winter in Korea," except a few technicians difficult to replace.

Mrs. Rosenberg referred to the rotation of men who have been in Korea approximately a year. There was no hint that the war wouldn't go into a second winter.

HAIRDRESSERS PLAN SHOW

Plans for the fashion show to be held at Hotel Harding Nov. 4 were discussed at a meeting of the Marion Chapter of the Hairdressers Guild of Ohio Monday night at Hotel Harding. The show will be held at 2 p.m. at Hotel Harding. Final plans for the event will be made at a special meeting scheduled for Oct. 29 at the home of Mrs. Mary Swan of 299½ East Center street.

DR. HERMANN SANDER

Doctor Denied Hospital Work

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 24—(AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander, the small town physician whose murder trial last year won world attention, failed last night to regain the right to treat patients in Hiisborough County non-denominational hospitals.

His application for re-admission to the county medical association was denied by a vote of 58 for to 48 against—13 short of the required two thirds majority of the number voting.

The association dropped from membership the 42-year-old Candia, N. H., general practitioner after he was charged with taking the life of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, of Manchester, a hopelessly ill cancer sufferer.

Membership in the association is necessary to treat patients in the county's hospitals. Dr. Sander was barred for life from the Sacred Heart and the Notre Dame hospitals, Manchester, both run by Catholic nuns.

Manager

Manager will be Ralph Q. White, assistant cashier of the main bank. He will be assisted by a full staff at the branch bank.

The new branch is the second opened by National City. The first was at Waldo.

Regular banking hours will be from 9 a. m. to 2:30 p m. except on Friday when the bank will stay open until later in the afternoon. It will close at noon on Saturday.

First depositor this morning was L. R. Lane of the Lane Supply Store, while Wilbur Shover of Shover Radio and Television Service made the first transaction at the drive-in window.

Jubilee Feature

"Open house" in the new bank was one of the highlights in the observance of the West Towne Jubilee, which ended last night. A talent show, dancing and stage entertainment were presented Monday and Tuesday nights as part of the program sponsored by merchants of the West Center street area between Garden street and Park Boulevard.

Grand finalist of the talent show were Carl and Ronnie Breece of New Bloomington School, who received first prize, a bicycle, for their trumpet duet. A clarinet duet by Erman Seckel and Don Couch of Marion placed second. The prize was a $25 savings bond. Third prize, a record player, was awarded to Dorothy and Carole Kinney of Marion, who gave a vocal duet.

Since part of Tuesday night's activities, in the parking lot between the new bank and the L-K Sandwich Shop, were discontinued because of rain, prizes by merchants in the West Towne section will be awarded at 8 p. m. tonight in the parking lot.

Poisons

found dead in a chair on her back porch. A man told police he bought a drink on a street corner and 30 minutes later was admitted to Grady Hospital—blind.

As casualties neared epidemic proportions and the poisonings became known generally, the hospital was swamped with patients. Hospital Supt. Frank Wilson said about 75 persons who had drunk bootleg liquor became hysterical and rushed in with only imaginary symptoms of wood alcohol poisoning. But more than 100 others showed actual symptoms.

Used in Racing Cars

Methyl alcohol often is used to "soup up" racing cars. It can be purchased in 50-gallon lots for about $1.75 a gallon.

Citizens were warned to beware of any liquor except that sold in legitimate stores.

L. O. Reagin, 54, one of the Negroes rounded up by police, admitted buying 62 gallons of moonshine from an unidentified white man and reselling it. When he learned it was making drinkers ill, he told officers, he recovered 37 gallons and returned it to the white man. Police said apparently this 37 gallons was put back on the market.

During the Revolutionary War, the American soldier was issued a ration of uncooked food every day and it was up to him to prepare a meal.

Retailers Pick Marion Man

Walter E. Axthelm of Marion, vice president and secretary of Axthelm & Turner Inc. clothing store, was named a member of the board of directors when a Men's Apparel Retailers of Ohio organization was formed this week.

The meeting, attended by 28 Ohio businessmen who deal with men's and boys' apparel, was held Monday and Tuesday in Cleveland at the Hotel Statler. Mr. Axthelm was the only one present from Marion.

A Galion man, C. R. Myers, also was in attendance and was named to the board of directors.

Temporary officers were named to serve until a state convention is held in January at Cleveland.

The officers include Harry Pokras of Steubenville, president, Will C. Englander of Cleveland, vice president, and Don Levine of Cleveland, secretary. Others on the board of directors besides Mr. Axthelm and Mr. Myers are Chet Purcell of Kent, Edwin Senshauser of Dover, D. L Grimm of Celina and W. K. Lytle of Fremont.

A meeting of the directors has been set to be held Nov. 18 in Cleveland to plan for the state convention.

Tax Collector

requested and accepted last night, had been slated to appear before the committee at 10 a.m. today.

Counsel for the subcommittee said the reasons for the forced resignations would be brought out at today's session

Tax Commissioner John B. Dunlap said in announcing the action the reasons were personal. He said Joseph P. Marcelle, collector for the first district of New York, resigned after a long conference here yesterday between Marcelle, Dunlap and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

Good of Service

Dunlap said "the resignation . . . was requested for the good of the service . . . thus far, the investigation has not disclosed any discrepancies in the Brooklyn office (or) improper conduct" by Marcelle.

"Today's action," Dunlap said, was based "on some of (Marcelle's) personal actions."

Marcelle was the sixth revenue collector to be suspended or forced from office in recent months.

Adrian De Wind, counsel for a House ways and means subcommittee headed by Rep. King (D-Calif), said in an interview soon after Marcelle agreed to resign that he had agreed to appear before the committee today.

De Wind said the subcommittee questioned Marcelle in closed session last August and that evidence leading to his resignation was developed by subcommittee investigators.

De Wind, like Dunlap, said "personal" matters led to Marcelle's ouster. He would not discuss the evidence in advance of the committee meeting.

Marcelle had been tax collector in the first district since May, 1944. His district included the counties of Queens, Nassau, Suffolk and Kings, taking in Brooklyn and most of the rest of Long Island. Brooklyn is one of the five boroughs of New York City.

Gives Assurance

Meanwhile, Dunlap had given the King subcommittee official his assurance that the government's interests in two income tax cases involving more than $2,500,000 are fully protected.

Dunlap told the subcommittee yesterday it was no more than coincidence that the revenue bureau took key actions in the two cases shortly after they were mentioned in Senate speeches.

One case involves William Lias, Wheeling W. Va., racetrack owner, against whom the government has pending civil actions for $2,261,772 in taxes and penalties. He has been acquitted of criminal charges in connection with his returns.

Truman

of a great ideal. They are evidence, far more powerful than any speeches ever can be, that the idea of international justice under law—the idea of international cooperation to preserve peace and freedom — has taken root and is growing and spreading throughout the world, bringing men together in new and greater bonds of brotherhood."

He said advances being made toward a system of international peace and justice "will prove to be worth all the sacrifice and effort which they are costing us and other nations."

Appeals For Blood

He said one of the best ways for the public to support the men in Korea is to give blood through the Red Cross for the use of soldiers.

"The blood which is being given by our people here at home is saving cases which would have been considered hopeless not so long ago," Mr. Truman said. He told of one wounded soldier whose life was saved by 75 pints of blood and said the "demand for blood is tremendous."

U. S. READY TO "SHOOT BACK." Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup are shown chatting in a Washington television station where they appeared on separate programs. Acheson told his audience of U. S. willingness to meet Russia at a conference table "day or night" to mediate issues, but said that "if they shoot," this country is ready to "shoot back." Jessup, whose nomination as a U.N. delegate was bypassed by the Senate, said he does not believe the Senate would have rejected his nomination if it had come to a vote.

Order Mass Picketing Of Atlantic Port

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—Leaders of rebel stevedores ordered mass picketing at every pier in the vast New York port today to greet the initial peace efforts of the government's top labor trouble-shooter.

Clyde M. Mills, the nation's leading federal mediator, rushed here from Washington last night, with the wildcat dock strike paralyzing this two-state port and crippling other Atlantic harbors.

The only apparent break in the dispute came late yesterday when strikers agreed to resume work on army troop transports. But they said they still would not handle military cargo shipping for Korea and other outposts.

Insurgent stevedores claimed up to 30,000 members of the A.F.L. International Longshoremen's Association (I.L.A.) had joined their rebellion against I.L.A. President John P. Ryan and his administration.

The CAA warning also ordered aircraft to avoid the altitudes of 11,000 and 14,000 feet between Las Vegas and Albuquerque, N. M.

Barkley To Hear Story

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—Mrs. Flo Bratten arranged today to tell her boss, Vice President Barkley, about the role she played last year in a $1,100,000 government loan to build a swank Miami Beach hotel.

Barkley previously has said he wanted "to get her side of the story." That was his response when asked if he intended to keep Mrs. Bratten as a secretary. She has worked for him almost 26 years.

The plump, gray-haired secretary told newsmen yesterday, after being questioned by Senate investigators, that she had not attempted to exert influence and had done nothing wrong.

an attempted burglary but neither door would open.

Drive To Prospect

From Waldo they made their way to Prospect where they drove around town. Finding the streets deserted, they forced open the front door of one hardware store and made three trips to the car with the stolen articles. Then they broke into the garage where more small articles were stolen.

Then they drove to the north end of town where they parked the car. Massie and Oliver walked back to town where they entered the second hardware store and the drug store.

Massie took a small medical bag stuffed with drugs from the drugstore. The drugs were valued at $125 by authorities. Oliver said Massie was a dope addict and was "hopped up" during most of the robberies. He later found that the drugs were not the type he needed and destroyed them as well as the bag.

Prospect Losses

Largest loss in the Prospect burglaries was at the drug store where goods valued at between $300 and $400 were taken. These included cigarets, drugs, watches and cameras.

Estimated loss at the Kimmel Hardware was set at $170. Included there were two guns valued at about $50, ammunition at around $25. $15 worth of tools, knives valued at $50 and $25 in cash.

A $100 loss was listed at the Prospect Hardware. This included two rifles, a shotgun and $10 in cash. At the Rouse Garage, a total of $20 in cash and $50 worth of radios were stolen.

Suspicion Proves True

Deputy Sheriff Ullom had been convinced at least one of the men had been a dope addict after his investigation of the robberies. He pointed to the fact that the robberies all were made through the front doors of Main street establishments where danger of discovery was highest. Total value of the articles taken at Prospect was set at $1,175.

Oliver said the group then left Prospect and traveled south. "We were both armed," he told the sheriff. He said Massie's wife had remained in the auto at all times during the breakins. She was "scared of her husband," he said. He indicated Massie might have been the ring leader.

The statement continued to say the group made a trip to Mt. Sterling, Ky., where they sold their stolen articles, mainly guns, to a man named "Sam." He said Sam had a standing order for 1,000 guns a week. During their two-month spree in Ohio, the two men netted more than $4,000 in the small town robberies.

Largest Haul

Largest single amount was netted at Oak Hill where they took guns and other items from two hardware stores valued at $1,500. Oliver told the sheriff that at one breakin at Baltimore, Md., they took $5,000 worth of drugs. With the exception of a small amount kept by Massie, they sold the entire amount for $125.

The sheriff said he first discovered the arrest of Oliver in Charleston while serving a warrant at Point Pleasant, W. V. While reading a newspaper account of the arrest he noticed the similarity to the local jobs. A follow-up investigation netted the confession.

Planned Bank Robbery

Oliver said they had planned to make their way to Baltimore from Charleston when the arrest occurred. They were planning to contact two acquaintances of Massie's made while he was serving a penitentiary sentence. They were to contact the men and bring them back to Ohio for a proposed bank robbery at North Lewisburg in Champaign County.

The sheriff said they had the bank movements well charted from days of investigation. Oliver admitted they had driven over the country looking for small towns with no police force.

Oliver said he had been working at a Columbus factory prior to meeting Massie. Oliver has no police record. Massie, however, has several arrests including one prison sentence.

Bloody Shirt Evidence In Murder Trial

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24—(AP)—A former laundry worker testified yesterday she found a shirt "with blood on the front" in the laundry of George Phillips, 23, accused of second degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Ruth Alter, Columbus housewife

Mrs. Lucille Wood identified the laundry mark on a stained shirt shown her by Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett in county criminal court. She said the shirt had been in a bundle of laundry picked up at Phillips' home last April 26.

Mrs. Alter, a 32-year-old mother, was found beaten to death in her home last April 25. Phillips, an insurance salesman who lost one arm in a childhood accident, has pleaded innocent, claiming he did not go near the Alter home the day of the slaying.

Several state's witnesses testified yesterday they saw a car they identified as Phillips' parked across the street from Mrs. Alter's home on April 25

Mrs. A. J. Johnson, sister of Mrs. Frank R. Ward who was a witness for the state, reported yesterday she received a telephone call, apparently intended for Mrs. Ward. The anonymous caller said "You better watch out" and hung up, Mrs. Johnson related.

Mrs. Emma Russel, a neighbor of Mrs. Alter, testified she saw a man, wearing a blue-grey suit, approach the Alter home the day of the slaying. Under cross-examination, she said she did not recognize the man as Phillips, although she had known Phillips for at least two years.

Infants Cast In Church Play

Epworth Group To Give 3 Performances

A brief but important part in the production, "One Foot in Heaven," at Epworth Methodist Church three nights this week will be played in the respective performances by three Marion infants. Their importance lies in the fact that they complete the family circle of the "Spences," central characters of the play. Two will appear as the "Spence baby" tonight and Friday nights. On Saturday night, the third infant will be included in the group.

The "parsonage family of Laketon, Ia., includes Miss Jean Kneisley, as "Eileen Spence," Thomas Phillip Kennedy, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kennedy, Tom Tatham as "Hartzell Spence," Mrs. Irene Moore as "Mrs. Hope Spence," Terry Lee Nash, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Nash, and Stanley Moore as "Rev. William H. Spence." The third baby cast as the "Spence infant" will be James Hastings Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bush.

Costumes and furniture of the year 1910 will be an attraction of the play. Prominent in the scenes with the infants will be an 86-year-old cradle belonging to the family of Mrs. P. H. Rea of Marion, grandmother of Tommy Kennedy. Dresses worn by the children are christening attire of infants of more than 30 years ago. The costumes and furniture are authentic to the period which the play depicts, and have been donated by a large number of interested persons. Shoes of the "toothpick pointed" style of the day have been loaned by the Smart & Waddell shoe stores.

Appearing in addition to the cast of more than 20, the "Spence family" and friends, will be the Chapel and Cherub Choirs of Epworth Church. Sunday, the cast met together, in continuous session through the afternoon, and in the evening, with a potluck supper served. An evaluation of the performances of the players and of the drama action as a whole was given by Miss Lucille Foreman and Miss Mary Jo Stafford. Miss Cleo Finley is acting as a technical assistant with the choirs.

The play will be put on in the church's basement auditorium on the new stage. Curtain time each night will be 8 o'clock. There is no admission price. Of the 900 seats available on the three nights, 85 are still available for Saturday night, Miss Margaret Huffman, director, stated. Reservations may be made by calling the church office.

Tonight at 8, dedication of the new stage will precede the dramatization.

FOUR YEARS of planning and hard work has made a dream come true for members of the Jessie A. Gardner Federated Club whose club home at 190 Harrison street will be opened to their friends next Sunday. Dedication ceremonies are scheduled for Friday, Nov. 2. The open house will be held from 2 to 9 p. m. A program is being arranged for the dedication to take place at 2 p. m.

Faith, a desire to help their own race, a will to overcome obstacles, and hard work are the tools with which the club home was built. No funds were solicited from the public. The members sponsored teas, dinners, a minstrel show and fund raising projects, and the money went into the building fund.

Last September work was started on the 20 by 30 foot frame building which now houses the small auditorium, a well-equipped, kitchen and a small combination lounge and powder room. Approximately 125 persons can be seated in the auditorium. The kitchen is equipped with a new gas range, double sink, cupboards and electric refrigerator. The walls are finished in knotty pine and the floor is of yellow and green blocked tile. Drapes at the windows are in harmonizing shades. A piano occupies one corner of the room and gifts include three dozen new metal folding chairs. The outside is shingled and a cement walk and steps lead to the street.

Members Bring Gifts

The club home was a topic for all meetings and frequently there were gifts from the members in the way of equipment. At a pre-open house meeting of the club members recently everyone brought articles for the kitchen. Other gifts, aside from the chairs, include the refrigerator, piano and silverware.

The club home, the members state, has as its purpose a worthwhile contribution to the community, a step forward for the race in the community, a place for holding religious meetings, presenting plays, social gatherings and a real club home.

One of the first events in the new home will be the sponsoring of a dinner on Sunday, Nov. 18, from 11:30 to 3 p. m. Proceeds of this and other dinners to be held on the third Sunday of each month, will go into the building fund.

While the club has not solicited help in their big venture, contributions will be welcomed as the members are most anxious to relieve themselves of their indebtedness on the home.

Organized 4 Years Ago

The Jessie A. Gardner Federated Club was organized four years ago by a group of 18 women. The first president was Mrs. Mozella Stadler. Their activities are community-wide and one of their immediate projects is getting the Negro women out to the polls at the coming election. Women and girls of the club plan to baby sit while mothers vote and the club will provide transportation to the polls for those who can not get there otherwise. The members take part in the Community Chest campaign, cancer drive and other fund-raising projects They are in close touch with the Marion County Welfare department at all times, and at present their civic work includes providing two quarts of milk daily for a Negro mother and her three little children. In addition to providing clothing for local persons the club also has sent clothing to Negro war orphans in Liverpool, England.

The local club is affiliated with the National Association of Colored Women which has members in every state in the United States, Canada and Africa. Headquarters are in Washington, D. C.

The national organization was founded in 1896 and has as its purpose the improvement of standards of the Negro race, instituting industrial homes in the southlands, boarding homes for Negro girls in large cities and providing scholarships for girls planning a college career. Membership in the junior club includes girls from the age of six to 18 years.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Mr. Skelton's Middle Phase

At lunch once—oh, this was four or five years ago—Fred Allen declared that radio critics, like press agents, NBC vice presidents and other riffraff were just parasites living off the earned increment of the entertainers. I hotly disputed this wild statement at least insofar as radio columnists—television was just a gleam in David Sarnoff's eye in those days—were concerned.

In the first place, I said, a radio commedian's increment was neither earned nor, with taxes the way they were, was it increment; it was unearned unincrement, a revision of the old phrase. Or to put it another way, it was conspicuous non-consumption. So much for economics. On to parasitism. There are a lot of parasites feeding on radio comics in one way or another. As a matter of fact, radio comics feed on one another to great extent. The other night Red Skelton was overheard by several million eavesdroppers to proclaim that he couldn't afford to attempt new jokes on his program because the audience was just beginning to appreciate the old ones.

John Crosby

A lot of other people—forty million different varieties of press agent, the William Morris agency, and six people with crew haircuts and anxious expressions from J. Walter Thompson—nibble away at the comedian's unearned unincrement or widow's mite. Parasites, all of them. But the radio columnist, I proclaim, is not among them. (For one thing, he can't afford a crew haircut or any other form of haircut.)

For another—we're approaching the crux. Slow down to 40 miles an hour—there is nothing harder to write about, year in, year out, than radio. After five years and roughly two million words at this occupation, I can appreciate Mr. Skelton's old jokes as well as the next man and probaoly a little better, having heard them oftener.

BUT IT'S A LOT harder to write about the old jokes than to repeat them. In other words it's pretty hard to grapple with Skelton again after these many winters and come up with any fresh facets, any hitherto unrevealed aspects of a man who has been so strenuously exhioited on stage, screen, vaudeville, radio and lately television for so long.

"Mr. Skelton can prattle along indefinitely, spitting out unrelated jokes with an air of such vigorous humor that, I'm forced to admit, he carries a large part of his audience along with him by sheer determination. It's a gift not to be taken lightly," I wrote once upon a time, long, long ago. (If Mr. Skelton can repeat the jokes, I ought to be permitted to repeat the observations.) Well, he's back on radio again (CBS 8 p.m. E.S.T. Wednesdays) and the jokes—as Mr. Skelton himself confessed—haven't changed.

"You got any stewed chicken"—"Yes"—"Well, give 'em black coffee. That'll sober 'em up."

"Have you always been in this condition?" "No, I was single once."

* * *

HOWEVER, WHILE the material remains untouched by time, Mr. Skelton has been substantially altered by the passage of years and conceivably by success. Either he has mellowed or I have. Anyhow, he seems less brash, much more sure-footed and very likeable. Eventually, he may go on to the goal of all comedians and be downright lovable. Some of the more aged Skelton scholars like myself may not live to see it—I shall go down in history as the authority on Mr. Skelton's middle or post-Paramount phase—but you youngsters probably will, because Mr. S. is a persistent fellow who has hurdled a lot of obstacles and ought to be able to hurdle a few more.

ONE HURDLE he'll have to clear before he reaches the apex of lovableness is his Mean Widdle Kid routine—which is as unsufferable as ever, the passage of time notwithstanding. Incidentally, Mr. Skelton is introduced with the words: "CBS proudly presents . . . ." The adverb was inserted in there either to conceal the fact that Mr. Skelton hasn't got a sponsor or to attract one.

Another small milestone: CBS signed off with the words: "This is the CBS radio network." Well, well, well, well. I remember way back when it was the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Members of the Olney Avenue P.-T.A. endorsed the four-mill operating levy to be voted on next month at a meeting held Thursday night at the school.

Unanimous approval of the levy was granted after Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of the city school system, addressed the group on the need of the additional money.

Miss Louella Schroll, principal of the school and first grade teacher, introduced the members of the school faculty and urged classroom visitations on the part of the parents.

The meeting was opened with devotions conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blankenship. Mr Blankenship played the piano and sang a hymn while Mrs. Blankenship illustrated the hymn with a flannelgraph. Mrs. Ivan Jordan, assisted by Mrs. Walter Snyder, was in charge of an audience participation program consisting of contests and singing. Contests were won by Carroll Schmidt Mrs L. W. Rail Safety Head Talks in Galion

GALION—Don Mumford, superintenden of safety of the New York Central Railroad System, with offices in New York City, returned to his native Galion Monday to speak to the Galion Rotary Club. He was presented by Harold L. MacKay, New York Central freight agent, here.

Mumford, who has served in many capacities as a safety expert, and also as president of the New York City Kiwanis Club, paid tribute to many local people in his talk. He said that his associates in Galion have given him many of his ideas which he is using today in his safety work. He paid tribute to Harold MacKay for his suggestion several years ago for the formation of family safety committees which have spread from the New York Central to other railroads and now into industries. He also gave a tribute to Mrs. Elnora Newell, president of the Galion Business and Professional Women's Club, who made life-like caricatures to illustrate his Highway Five safety signs which were used in a safety book he edited for children. These signs are now going out to schools of the country to educate children regarding accidents.

Mumford said that the great up-surge in accidents in this country began with the advent of the automobile. He said that in all wars in which this country has been engaged, the number of men killed has been one million, while in the 51 years of the automobile there will be one million killed unless something happens to push back into next year the expected peak in December of the millionth individual to be killed by automobiles. He pointed out that last year 15,000 people were killed while at work, and 27,500 were killed in homes.

A number of railroad officials were present at the meeting.

Kenton Library To Become A District Project

Special to The Star

KENTON — Kenton's 100-year-old library soon will become a district project and will assume a definite legal status, it was announced. The Hardin County commissioners have accepted a proposal made by the Kenton Library Board of Trustees.

The commissioners have agreed on a resolution creating a district library to be organized under the state library laws. The new organization will take over the assets and responsibilities of the Kenton Public Library and give it legal status.

Up to this time the library was governed by a board of trustees but covered no definite area and was without a definite legal status. It had continued for almost 100 years under the same organization and procedure as when it was organized.

The new Library Board of Trustees will be appointed by the Hardin County commissioners, which names four members, and Hardin County Common Pleas Judge Arthur D. Tudor, who names three of the trustees.

The new board will select a name for the library district, after which details of transfer of assets of the library to the new board will be made.

WESLEY CLASS MEETS

When Mrs. George Lashey and Mrs. Addie McGinnis entertained the Wesley Methodist Women's Bible Class Thursday night at the Lashey home on Sheridan road, Mrs. Hugo Malo was a guest. She told of her visit to Germany and of seeing the Oberammergau Passion Play. Other guests were Mrs. Arthur Culp, Mrs. Jesse Rech and Miss Barbara Lashey. Devotions were by Mrs Fred Upton, and Mrs. McGinnis offered prayer. Mrs. O W. McElhaney presided for business. A reading was by Mrs. C. G Roberts Following the talk by Mrs. Malo, Mrs. Electa Wilbert offered prayer Refreshments were in keeping with Halloween. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Wilbert on Olney avenue.

HOMELESS PAIR. This little fellow's first name is Stanley, but police don't know his name or where to find the parents, at Los Angeles. The three-year-old was left last Oct 2, with Mrs. Carrie Mary Nation, 64, at her suburban home by an unidentified woman A few days later Mrs. Nation died. The mother has never returned Now Stanley lives at Juvenile Hall, whiling away the hours with a nameless pup who arrived under similar circumstances.

tion with a laugh. "I think I can promise you boutonnieres," I told him, and then went into my final revelation.

"My father's suggestions about the dinner are the most troubling," I said "He told me that Bess knows the shops there, so she will bear the brunt of the dress problem, to the last accessory. A college town always has super flower shops, so that question can wait until we reach New Haven. But the dinner puzzles me. I had thought of thick juicy steaks, with the things that go with them—"

"Yum! Yum!" Hank put in, then added an impenitent but hurried "Sorry, sorry" as his uncle glared at him.

"But," I finished, "my father said that the 'college heel' would be sure to have those—he has checked up on the lad most thoroughly—and he wants us to have a dinner marked by many exotic, unusual and expensive dishes which will arouse the attention—and the envy—of the young man we are trying to dazzle. And, of course, we won't know the restaurant we are to patronize until we learn where Bill's classmate is going to stage his own dinner, so I can't plan things beforehand I confess I am at my wits' end Have any of you any helpful thoughts?"

I saw Lillian's eyes—and Dicky's—turn in Harry Underwood's direction. He looked back at them with his eyebrows forbiddingly drawn together. Then they unknitted, and he grinned a bit sardonically.

"If you can use my poor efforts, they are at your feet Lady Fair," he said.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"Jewels and orchids!" Mildred Grey gasped. "What—what—do you mean?"

"You'll hear in a few minutes" I told her, smiling, "when I finish my broadcast to the assembled company I don't think your mental gastric juices can digest any more just now."

She smiled back at me, and my mental barometer leaned for the ceiling. I had succeeded in banishing the worst of her fright and despair, I told myself jubilantly, and then we were back in the living room, with everybody carefully ignoring our sojourn in the bedroom But Bill could not keep his anxious eyes from searching his fiancee's face. I quickly gave a signal to Dicky, and, between us, we managed to get everybody into animated conversation, giving Bill and Mildred time for a bit of private confidences. I sent several watchful glances in their direction from beneath my eyelashes, and when they unobtrusively slipped into the group again, I gave another signal to Dicky and he promptly set the stage for my microphone.

"Don't we get any more low-down on the trimmings of this party?" he asked. "You had just broken the news that the gals were to have snooty new outfits, and I had told the boys that they must do with what they had, when you and Mildred left us Can't you go on from there? Our shell-like ears are bent in your direction at a dangerous angle"

"They'll bend still more before I finish," I told them, laughing, and then went swiftly on to reveal the amazing details which my father had given me. Irrepressible Hank interrupted me once.

"Don't we get no boutonnieres to dress up our disreputable old tails?" he asked plaintively, and his uncle "shushed" him sternly.

"You're interrupting The March of Time," he said, stressing every word. "Pipe down!"

"Okay" Hank said in martyred tones, and I answered his ques-

Two Granted Certificates In Pharmacy

Two Marion County men have been granted pharmacist certificates by the State Board of Pharmacy, according to an Associated Press dispatch today.

They are George E. Bull Jr. of No. 8 Windsor Apartments, Marion, and Richard L. Dennis of High street in LaRue.

They are among 56 applicants to receive certificates. The examinations were held Oct. 8-9 in Columbus.

Mr. Bull, a resident of Marion about three and a half months, is a pharmacist at the Frederick C. Smith Clinic on East Church street He is a nephew of Dr. J. W. Bull of Marion, a physician on the staff at the Smith Clinic.

Formerly of Berwyn, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, Mr. Bull was graduated from Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa., in 1947, and from the College of Pharmacy at the University of Illinois, Chicago, in June. He is married and has two children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs George E. Bull of Riverside, Ill. His father is a native of Prospect. About two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Bull lived in Marion for about nine months.

Mr. Dennis, with his mother, Mrs Lena M Dennis, also of LaRue, own and operate the Dennis Pharmacy in LaRue. His father, Ross L Dennis, operated the store prior to his death several years ago.

A native of LaRue, Mr. Dennis was graduated from the Ohio Northern University college of pharmacy in 1950 and served his apprenticeship at the Hill Drug store in Kenton. He is married and has one son.

Student Named In Damage Suit

Damage suits totaling $68,185 have been filed in Delaware County Common Pleas Court against Edward M. Orcutt of Delaware, a former Marion resident now studying at Ohio Wesleyan University.

The suits, filed by Mr. and Mrs. William Harsh of near Delaware, stem from a traffic accident in Delaware Oct. 21, 1950.

Harsh asks $53,185 and his wife $15,000 in damages. He suffered a broken arm, torn ligaments and shock and his wife a broken collarbone and ribs and a cracked vertebrae in a collision with a car driven by Orcutt, their petitions allege.

They allege the accident occurred because Orcutt did not make a necessary stop at a street intersection.

Cong. Brehm Files Appeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) today asked the U. S. Court of Appeals to throw out his conviction on charges that he illegally accepted $1,000 in campaign contributions from one of his employes.

Brehm filed a brief with the court, contending that Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews committed three specific errors in her handling of the two-week trial last spring.

The 59-year-old fifth-termer was fined $5,000 and given a suspended five to 15 month jail sentence after a jury found him guilty April 30 of unlawfully taking campaign gifts from Mrs. Emma S. Craven in 1948 when she was a clerk in his congressional office.

Brehm also contended in his brief that the seven-count indictment returned against him last winter was invalidated because the jury commission which selected the grand jury was "illegally constituted."

Windmills first became common in Germany, the Netherlands and the surrounding country.

Ike's Backers Seen Accepting Gabrielson

Truman Not Ready To Pick Successor For Wm. Boyle Jr.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP) Backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower apparently have agreed not to make any effort to oust Guy C. Gabrielson as chairman of the Republican national committee.

And evidence accumulated that President Truman may not be ready to pick a successor to William M. Boyle Jr. when the democratic national committee meets here next week to accept Boyle's resignation as chairman.

Influential Republicans who are getting ready to launch a movement to draft Eisenhower for the 1952 G.O.P. presidential nomination were reported shying away from any move to replace Gabrielson.

Senator Ives (R-N Y) an Eisenhower backer, told reporters he knows of "no concentrated movement" to oust the chairman.

To close the Marion County School of religion Monday night, the forum audience was given opportunity to hear a man who has gained recognition on two continents for his intellectual achievements. Dr. Bela Vasady of Dubuque, Ia., formerly of Debrecen, Hungary, theologian and minister of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, spoke on "The Church of Christ and World Peace." He is an educator in the field of religion, lecturer, and author of works on theology, philosophy and enumerics in both Hungarian and in English.

Two local ministers of his denomination on the platform with Dr. Vasady for the school's forum hour were Rev. J. Paul Goebel of First Evangelical and Reformed Church and Rev. L. Harrison Ludwig of Salem Church. Rev. Goebel offered the prayer, and Rev. Ludwig introduced the speaker. Dr. Vasady was entertained in the Ludwig home here and has been a friend of the family a number of years, since his first stay in this country at seminary at Dayton, O., where he received a degree in 1924. After professorship in Hungary and following the end of the fighting of World War II, he returned to this country, in 1946, and was joined by his wife and three children the following year. He is now a visiting professor of philosophy and Bible at the University of Dubuque.

Classes Meet

Following his address, final classes of the School of Religion met. The school was conducted four Monday nights this month at First E.U.B. Church, with forum speakers and six classes taught by Rev. Goebel, Rev. L. R. Kennard of Green Camp, Dr. Henry Schaeffer, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church, Dr. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, Mrs. Thelma Wilcox, supervisor of weekday religious education classes in the Marion public schools, and Miss Neva Witthuhn, director of Christian education of Calvary E.U.B. Church.

Rev. Evan Owens of Prospect Street Methodist Church was dean. He reported more than 130 certificates awarded students by the teachers for satisfactory completion of work. The annual School of Religion for the community is sponsored by the Marion County Council of Churches, with courses accredited by the International Council of Religious Education. Rev. Ludwig is president of Marion's council.

Peace Sought Wrong Way

Peace, Dr. Vasady said, is being sought by everyone today, but it is being sought the wrong way. Man is trying to secure it by following his own sinful, selfish nature. To know what peace is truly, man must face and analyze it on a Biblical basis. Only through God, in a spiritual atmosphere, will it be achieved. It is grounded only in Christ. God is not a God of confusion, but of peace, He is not a God of appeasement. Satan had to be crushed by the death of Christ on the cross to reveal God's love and to make the ultimate good, or peace, accessable to mankind.

Men want a formula for peace, but it is beyond any psychiatric prescription. It can come only through a "broken and a contrite heart," repentance, which people want to avoid. It cannot come to man through idleness, self deception, or through any works of the individual's own devising. Only in doing the will of the God of peace always can man have the peace of God. The command is to love one's neighbor as one's self. When man loves God first, then proper love of self and of neighbor are the consequences.

In closing, he admonished his audience to "seek and pursue peace above all else. In the routine little things of life be a faithful peacemaker, and from little things to higher levels. Use our freedom under God for bringing the freedom of other nations about. Be eager to maintain the unity of the spirit in the bonds of peace." This, he said, is the mission of the church which is at its highest level a "fellowship of the concerned."

What is known as the hot dog was called a "dachsund sausage" before the turn of the century.

DiSalle Firm On Beef Price Control Issue

Won't Be Lifted, He Says; Studies New Enforcement Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said today "we most emphatically do not" intend to remove price controls from beef and beef cattle. On the contrary, he added, new enforcement measures are under study.

DiSalle spoke out in a statement issued at a time when pressure for lifting the controls appeared to be mounting from the meat industry and some farm groups.

Also, it appeared that disagreement over some of the new steps DiSalle's Office of Price Stabilization is reported considering may go to the White House for final decision.

Agriculture Department officials are known to be reluctant to be drawn into programs designed to make the controls work more effectively than they are.

In declaring that OPS does not intend to abandon beef price controls because Congress refused to grant it new authority to impose slaughter quotas, DiSalle said:

"Beef comprises a very important part of the American family's diet, and we feel it is a major responsibilty of ours to do all in our power to see that it costs the housewife no more than it does already."

Britain Ends Vote Campaign

LONDON, Oct. 24—(AP)—Britain's election campaign ends tonight focussed on two critical issues—the country's place in a world threatened by war, and her bitterly controversial experiment in socialism.

Voters from a registered electorate of 35,000,000 cast their ballots Thursday.

Their choice lies between the Conservative party led by Winston Churchill, and the Socialists who came to power in July, 1945.

Radar System Almost Done

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—The $295,000,000 radar system for warning of possible aerial attack against the United States is nearly completed, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg said today.

The Air Force Chief of Staff told reporters the complex and far-flung detection system should be in full operation soon.

But, he indicated, it will take longer before all the units of new jet interceptor planes needed as a vital second part of the air defense system are ready. The first planes provided for under appropriations made two years ago are only now beginning to be delivered—a "lead time" required for the negotiation of contracts, the hiring of thousands of aircraft workers and the manufacture and installation in factories of the tools needed for mass production of the new planes.

The Air Force, with substantial appropriations by Congress and by diverting funds from other projects of lower priority, has been able to rush the radar net near to completion in a little over two years.

Harding Aims at Ashland's Unbeaten String

Through the SPORTSCOPE with A.L. McCLAIN

AND ON TO ASHLAND. Harding's victorious gridmen wasted no time in pointing to Ashland following their well-earned victory over Findlay, 40-20, on the Trojan field last Thursday.

There was much singing and rejoicing mingled with an occasional cheer, "Ashland next! We gotta beat Ashland!"

It was reassuring to Pete Howison and his coaching staff that his charges should be up for this big one. Harding had been keyed up for the Buckeye League encounter and a letdown this week was seen likely.

ENEMY IN CAMP. We sat next to a Fremont Ross scout in the press box at the game.

When the President came right back to score after giving up an early TD, he exclaimed, "Say, these boys really like to play ball!"

He spent the remainder of the evening, hurriedly copying down notes and you can bet the Fremont Little Giants won't come here Nov. 16 overconfident.

In comparison to the Harding-Findlay score, Fremont had a rough time beating the Trojans, 25-21.

THOSE COSTLY FUMBLES. St. Mary followers, surprised and disappointed in their team's loss to Richwood, 6-0, here last Friday night, need not bring out the entire game statistics to explain the Irish defeat.

Nine fumbles told the whole story.

With a big, charging line, the Tigers also displayed they have been vastly underrated by the dopesters.

FOOTBALL FIX? Columnist Lee Mortimer of the New York Daily Mirror and co-author of the best seller, "Washington Confidential," has made charges "college football fixes are going on and will be revealed in the near future, just as in basketball."

POOR WOODY. Wes Fesler, now head coach at Minnesota after leaving O.S.U., says he feels sorry for "Poor Woody Hayes."

"He'll be getting nasty phone calls all night long and about 300 of the meanest letters you ever saw. I know, believe me," Wes says.

FUZZY FACES. This is a great year for freshmen football candidates. Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy reports that when his Irish squad made a recent trip the baggage of 40 players was checked and only seven razors were found.

"We found yo-yos, comic books, and cracker jack, but few razors," says Leahy.

Broken Jaw Halts Bid By Drake Back

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—Johnny Bright's bid for his third straight national ground-gaining title was in jeopardy today.

Bright, Drake's star halfback, is the individual leader in total offense and rushing among the nation's major college football teams but a fractured jaw, suffered against Oklahoma A. & M. last Saturday, may relegate the Negro flash to limited duty the rest of the season.

According to statistics released by the N.C.A.A. service bureau, Bright tops the parade in total offense with 1,349 yards and in rushing with 821 yards. However, Bright is being pursued closely and limited service probably will cost him the crown.

Harry Geldien of Wyoming is 300 yards behind in total offense. The cowboy has amassed 1,011 yards rushing and passing.

Ollie Matson, the San Francisco Don's big Negro fullback ranks second to Bright in rushing with 802 yards.

Don Klosterman, although idle, retained the top rung in the forward passing department. The Loyola (Calif.) star has completed 81 passes out of 164 attempts for 957 yards Vito Parilli of Kentucky is second with 76 completions out of 142 trys good for 913 yards.

Other departmental leaders include, Parilli, most touchdown passes, 9; Gary Kerkorian, Stanford, highest percent of passes completed, 63.2; and Bud McPhail, Oklahoma, best yards per-carry average, 10.4.

Rossi, of Cincinnati, is fourth in total offense with 870 yards He's 10th in forward passing, having completed, in six games, 54 out of 111 for 874 yards.

Scouts Say A's Have Strong "11"

Coach Pete Howison's football-loving youngsters will get a shot at the game's big prize tomorrow night — that of deflating an undefeated bubble.

The Presidents will hit the road for Ashland where they take on the A's, unbeaten in six games.

"Experts" around Marion have established the Prexies as a one-touchdown underdog against their opponents despite the locals' ability to upset favorites in posting a 4-1-1 record to date.

Bruised

In winning over their Buckeye League rivals, Findlay, last week, the Prexies came out bruised and battered, but are expected to be at full-strength by game time.

Jimmy Russell is still slowed by a bruised thigh, and Tom McClain was bitten by the flu bug, but Howison says they will be ready to go. Jim Chapman, defensive back, is also nursing an injury.

Scout reports on Ashland forecast a rugged night for Harding. The A's have a formidable forward wall on defensive and a smooth-working offense.

Ashland doesn't go in much for the platoon system, depending mostly on double-duty gridders who excel equally on both offense and defense.

Look Good

Harding followers found plenty to cheer about in their team's scoring punch against the Trojans, but noticed several lapses in the Prexies' defense. The Trojan razzle-dazzle fooled the Presidents on several plays.

A victory over Ashland could project the Howison crew into the Ohio prep school spotlight. But even the most loyal Harding followers admit the Prexies will be called upon to give their top effort of the year.

Beat Harding! Is Chant in Ashland

Harding will run into an aroused Ashland eleven when it goes to the A's field tomorrow night.

A story in the Ashland Times-Gazette yesterday reported placards have been plastered all over the high school building, reading: BEAT MARION! NO. 7?

Marysville Tries To Halt London

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 24—The curtain falls on the Mid-Six League football picture this week. However, the championship outlook is still "gloomy" for Marysville. London has already cinched a tie, but it needs one more victory to win the "crown" outright.

The first-place Red Raiders must entertain a dangerous Marysville eleven in their finale The Monarchs rest in second place, and they need only to tumble the current leaders to make the title be divided possibly three ways. Marysville has averaged better than 40 points per contest in their last two outings.

Westerville is the third team to figure in the select group. If they can turn back Hilliards on their home field, and if Marysville should win, the race could end in a three-way tie.

Grove City and Worthington tangle in the other loop game on the former's field. Each team will be seeking its first league victory.

MID-SIX STANDINGS

London	4	0	149	27
Marysville	3	1	101	68

Groza, Beard To Tell Their Story Nov. 7

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable, the three former University of Kentucky basketball players accused of shaving points in important games are scheduled to tell their story at a hearing on Nov. 7.

They were arraigned yesterday on charges of taking bribes of $500 to fix a 1949 game, and were released in $1,000 bail. The bail was arranged by J. R. Kimbrough, general manager of the Indianapolis Olympians of the National Basketball Association. Groza and Beard are part owners of the club.

Hockey Better Since Officials Enforce Rules

Penalty Benches Not Packed Despite New Crackdown

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—Last spring the owners of hockey clubs, tired of seeing their valuable property damaged, tried the interesting experiment of telling the referees to enforce the rules to the letter . . . It worked so well in the playoffs that they repeated the instructions this fall and the results have amazed everyone . . . Frank Boucher, who has seen a number of games on the road before bringing the Rangers here for tonight's opener, was almost breathless as he told about it . . . "It has made a much better game," said Frank "I was afraid at first that the penalty benches would be full, but the players seem to realize that they can't get away with hooking and holding and boarding-checking and they're not doing it . . . This gives the good players a chance to show their ability—And every team needs a star—And it takes away the advantage of the poor player . . . and it doesn't eliminate contact. The difference is that it has brought back clean body-checking—out where the fans can see it."

Don Rhoden, the Rice Institute linebacker, suffers from an uncomfortable but not dangerous back ailment . . . It doesn't bother him when he's tackling some big bruiser of a fullback, but when he wants to sleep, Don has to lie down on the floor or some other unyielding surface . . . Recently the Rice team viewed the Jim Thorpe movie which showed a big Carlisle Indian tackle named "Little Boy" who always slept on the floor because a mattress was too soft . . . Naturally, Rhoden came out with the nickname "Little Boy." . . . It fits, too, because Don, a junior in college, is only 18 years old.

* * *

U. of Miami figure filberts have invented a new "statistic" to show off Elmer Tremonti's punting effectiveness. They subtract the number of yards a punt is returned from the distance the ball is kicked . . . Wonder if they stopped to think that tackling effectiveness might fit in there? . . . Pennsylvania has scheduled 12 basketball doubleheaders for the Palestra this winter and Athletic Director Franny Murray is turning a deaf ear to the convention hall promoters, who want to eliminate conflicting dates . . . The football Yanks are planning to make a defensive halfback out of Al Pollard for this week's game against the Packers . . . The Oregon State College crew has been having trouble in fall practice. The water has been so low the coaching launch couldn't get down the river.

The Chicago Bears alumni club, which now meets weekly to heckle George Halas, is sponsoring a "Beat the Browns" trip to Cleveland, Nov. 25. Maybe they should go to St. Louis instead . . . Roy Simmons, who scouted Penn State for Syracuse last Saturday, tabbed Tony Rados as one of the best passers seen this season. But Roy was doing pretty well himself, passing out match books advertising his candidacy for another term as councilman at large in Syracuse . . . When the Rutgers grid team was finding the going very rough against Lehigh, Coach Harvey Harman picked up the phone to ask his press box observer what Rutgers should do . . . The answer came back very simply: "block and tackle."

Radio trains with broadcasting apparatus, loud speakers and a master of ceremonies are run on Irish railways which provide a commentary on the famous places enroute.

FOOTBALL SIDELIGHTS, like these University of Georgia cheerleaders in action, add variety and interest to the game at halftime.

Curcillo May Play Fullback For Buckeyes

Hayes Considers Wilks at QB Against Iowa

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24—(AP)—Ohio State will try to counter an expected passing attack by Iowa next Saturday with a new offensive combination of its own.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes, shuffling his starting lineup, said yesterday he might use 192-pound Tony Curcillo, as a line-plunging fullback. Curcillo has been calling signals and throwing passes from the quarterback spot since the start of the 1950 season.

But Curcillo's a strong runner and a good blocker. He was an outstanding fullback at Elyria High School for two years.

"I'll play anywhere they want me to play," he said.

If Curcillo moves to fullback, Hayes plans to use Bill Wilks, a junior from Hamilton, at quarterback. Wilks looked good in the 32-10 loss to Indiana last Saturday.

"I don't think there's any doubt but that he's a little better passer (than Curcillo)," Hayes said.

It looks like Bernie Skvarka and Walt Klevay will be the starting halfbacks. Hayes hopes he can use All-American Vic Janowicz, but the team doctor has recommended he be kept on the sidelines for one game because of a rib injury.

Ohio State will be seeking its first conference win. The Bucks have lost to Michigan State and Indiana, tied Wisconsin, and defeated Southern Methodist.

Durocher Named Manager of Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—Leo Durocher, whose managerial career hung in the balance four years ago, is baseball's "manager of the Year" for 1951.

The 45-year-old pilot gained the accolade for leading the New York Giants to the most sensational pennant triumph in National League history.

Durocher won the award in an Associated Press poll conducted among the 187 members of the Baseball Writer's Association of America

The Giant leader collected 113 votes to breeze home ahead of Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees, who was second with 64. Stengel won the award in 1950.

Lopez Mentioned

Other pilots who figured in the poll were Al Lopez of Cleveland, Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox, Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics and Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals. Lopez and Richards received four votes each and Dykes and Marion one apiece.

Durocher, advised of his selection while playing golf near his West Los Angeles winter home said:

"That's great news. It makes me very, very happy. I am very grateful.

"I'm grateful to the New York Giants' team It was the players who made this possible for me. Without them, without the grand way they played I wouldn't get this honor, of course They came through and played like the champions they are."

Durocher's darkest hour was in 1947 when he was suspended for the season by former Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler for "conduct detrimental to baseball."

Durocher returned to the helm of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1948 but on July 16, in a move that stunned the baseball world, he switched to the New York Giants, Brooklyn's most hated rivals.

The Giant fans didn't take to Durocher immediately. Some even termed the move high treason. The Giants finished fifth in 1948 and 1949 and the fans began yelling for Leo's scalp.

Risked Job

Durocher risked his job during the 1949 off season when he broke up a slow-running, but heavy slugging crew for "my kind of team."

The Giants started slowly in 1950 and again Durocher's job was in jeopardy. But the New Yorkers finished a strong third.

Durocher's 1951 team was favored in many quarters to bring the Polo Grounds its first flag since 1937. But the Giants lost 11 straight during the first month and the outlook was black, indeed.

The little leader restored the team's confidence and the Giants began to climb. They trailed Brooklyn by 13½ games as late as Aug. 11 but kept plugging away and finally caught the Dodgers two days before the end of the season. The Giants climaxed their comeback by beating the Dodgers in a playoff for the pennant.

Congressmen Hear MacPhail Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—(AP)—Larry MacPhail, former boss of the New York Yankees, was today's witness before congressmen investigating the game.

MacPhail is expected to be questioned about his views on the controversial reserve clause, the draft rules and the farm system—now that he is a horse breeder in nearby Maryland.

The daddy of the farm system—Branch Rickey—defended its operation before the committee yesterday and called it "the saviour of baseball."

Louis Thinks He'll Knock Out Marciano

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(AP)—Joe Louis thinks he'll knock out Rocky Marciano Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

"He can't fight," said Louis after watching movies of the Marciano-Rex Layne fight. Joe didn't even stay to see the ending and Marciano's knockout victory.

The 37-year-old ex-champion looked fit and trim as he breezed through his final boxing session, hitting with power.

Despite reports of Louis' fine condition, odds favoring the bomber slipped a peg to 6½ to 5 against the unbeaten Brockton, Mass., slugger. They're the lowest in Louis' big time career.

The bout adds up to the same old story of all Louis' comeback fights. How much does he have left? This time there is the added factor of an opponent who can punch.

Marciano is the best slugger Louis has met on the way back, with 32 knockouts in 37 straight pro triumphs. He can punch with either hand and sustain an attack. He is far from a master boxer, however.

The fight will be televised.

COACH BROADSHOULDERS COMMENTS ON SATURDAY'S GAME

Q—Coach, you are, I believe, an expert on the meet-defeat-bravely or never-say-die school of thought?
A—I am a ceaseless searcher for the silver lining
Q—This ability arises from your years of experience as a coach and as a moulder of character in young men?
A—That is correct.
Q—And how many games has your local eleven won this season?
A—The Scarlet Scourge has won one, but . . .
Q—Perfect! Now then—following last Saturday's hard-fought skirmish, how are the Scourges heads!
A—Bloody but unbowed
Q—Excellent! And to what can we attribute this defeat?
A—To the airforce, poor officiating and a combination of unfortunate circumstances. (This includes 7 fumbles.)
Q—And what do we not want to do?
A—Lose heart Nor do we want to offer any alibis.
Q—But?
A—But it must be remembered in all fairness, that their coach was under fire, that our opponents outweighed us almost two pounds per man, that they were an inspired aggregation and that early game tallies gave them a terrific moral boost, that the unforeseen depth in their backfield, that . . .
Q—I think that will suffice, Coach Broadshoulders. Now then, what was your team in there doing until the final whistle blew?
A—Fighting every inch of the way. Never for a minute admitting defeat.
Q—Right! And what have your boys gained that is invaluable?
A—Experience against one of the finest teams in modern history.
Q—And what couldn't this fine team do last Saturday?
A—Make a single mistake.
Q—And how did these opponents look to you Coach Broadshoulders, as an impartial observer?
A—Like a team that could whip anybody in the country.
Q—So what was the score?
A—Misleading.
Q—Good! And what will your Scourges be this week?
A—Undaunted.
Q—And?
A— . . . Determined to seek revenge and to show the home folks the stuff they're made of.
Q—And what must these home folks do this week?
A—Give their whole-hearted support to these boys.
Q—What kind of boys?
A—Boys who won't say die. Boys who will make some team pay some Saturday.
Q—What might you say, then of last Saturday's defeat?
A—That it was a blessing in disguise, that it was the best thing that could have happened, that our team has rebounded stronger than ever before, that . . .
That is quite enough, Coach Broadshoulders, thank you very much for this enlightening interview on last Saturday's game.

Auto Dealers Lose Fight To Sell Insurance

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24—(AP)—The Court of Appeals ruled yesterday that Ohio can prevent General Motors Corp dealers or allied companies from selling insurance.

The decision was handed down in a suit brought by the Motors Insurance Corp. of New York, a subsidiary of GM and a number of its Ohio agents.

It charged it had been denied insurance licenses unconstitutionally.

Attorney General O'Neill, who represented state officials, said the auto dealers were selling most of their insurance to persons who bought cars from them. He said the car buyer usually was required to buy insurance before he could buy a car on time.

The insurance company said there are 863 auto dealers in Ohio and 267 allied companies which sell both automobiles and auto insurance.

ONE OF THESE PANELS MUST OPEN — BUT THEY ALL LOOK JUST ALIKE!
HEY!
RATS COMING OUT OF THAT SECTION! WHAT COULD BE MORE LOGICAL THAN THAT THEY SHOULD RUN OUT OF A TUNNEL THAT HAS BEEN FLOODED?... BUT POOR DELTA IS DOWN THERE SOMEWHERE!

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Except for that communication from the American Legion to the State Department reading "Give up!", National Letter Writing Week produced no extra epistles of note.

Bill Boyle's resignation was dated the previous week and doesn't count in the "Funniest Letter of the Week" contest.

Incidentally, Boyle's resignation because of ill health doesn't mean that he is incapable of further public service . . . There are numerous examples of men whose sufferings ceased with their resignation.

O'Dwyer was a sick man in Manhattan and recovered in Mexico, Lehman resigned as governor of New York and regained strength as a senator in Washington and Curley, a stretcher case in federal court, blossomed again in public office in Boston.

So you see, our worries for the health of our public servants are sometimes stronger than the illness itself.
